SQUAW VALLEY MEADOW RACE SITE - A lack of snow in the Martis Valley and no cold weather predicted by weathermen forced race officials to relocate the North Tahoe Snowmobile Races set for February 7 and 8 to the sprawling, snow-blanketed meadow of Squaw Valley. Over 100 top racers will compete for points and prizes in the USSA-sanctioned meet. The event is sponsored by the Truckee-Donner Chamber of Commerce and the North Tahoe Chamber of Commerce. - Sun Photo

Squaw Valley New Site For Snowmobile Races

Weather forecasts predicting continued warmer temperatures and clear skies through the weekend forced the relocation of the North Tahoe Snowmobile Races from the Martis Valley to the snow-covered meadow of Squaw Valley.

Officials said that except for the new track site the racing competition will go ahead as planned, with a sprint course, drag strip, large oval, and Grand Prix course.

Action will begin at 10 a.m. Saturday following a briefing of the drivers by race officials. The first event scheduled is also considered by many fans the most exciting . . . 800cc modified machines competing on the large oval tract at speeds approaching 100 miles per hour.

Then, in order, are drag races and sprint matches for men in both modified and stock snowmobiles.

In the evening an award's banquet will be held at the Crystal Bay Club beginning at 7 p.m.

Sunday is racing day for women and children, ending in cross-country Grand Prix competition for women, then for men.

Betty Layton, North Tahoe Chamber of Commerce manager, said admission is free for children under 12 and $1 for adults for both days. The races are being sponsored by the North Tahoe and Truckee-Donner Chambers of Commerce.

Snow condition reports indicate an ideal racing snowpack covers the track area and record times may be set by the 100 or more racers, all members of the United States Snowmobile Association.

Steve Kech New Reporter And Photographer For Sun

Stephen (Steve) Kech, recently discharged from the US Army, has been assigned the position of reporter - photographer at the Sierra Sun.

The 24-year-old journalism graduate of San Jose State College is a native of Napa and had been employed by the Napa Register and the Tahoe Daily Tribune prior to entering the Army in January, 1968.

While on the Register and Tribune staffs, Kech covered police, fire, general news and feature assignments and edited a weekly tabloid section.

The Army trained him as a medical corpsman and sent him to Berlin, Germany, for an 18-month tour-of-duty where he was assigned to the medical platoon of Headquarters Company, 4th Battalion, 18th Infantry.

Last September, Kech and a friend from New York City toured several cities in Europe, including Amsterdam, London, Paris, Nice, Rome, Athens, Florence, Innsbruck and Munich. He, reportedly, was quite impressed with the European way of life and plans to return for another visit.

While attending Napa Junior College, Kech was a part-time employe of the Register, and also worked for that paper during summer vacation from San Jose State.

Lakeworld Decision Is Tabled By Supervisors

After several hours of testimony and several motions which failed to muster a majority, Nevada county's supervisors delayed a decision last Tuesday on the general plan amendment for Lakeworld's proposed 6,000-lot subdivision near Truckee.

The board seemed reluctant to act without advice from a planning director, a position that will be vacant until March 1 when Stanely Manfield comes to work.

Consequently, action on changing 4,000 acres from general forest environment to urban density probably will be delayed until April 7. The board's motion did indicate, however, that the question may be taken up before then if the new planner has time to study it and make a recommendation in March.

Representatives from the developers urged against a delay, indicating it might kill the project as the option to buy the land will have to be renegotiated.

However, Supervisor Ralph Buchanan felt this decision "is being pushed too fast. I feel it is the most important action the board will take this year."

Supervisor Robert Long said he sees good features in this proposal, but wants the new director to determine "if this is a logical progression" for Truckee. Long's motion to table until April 7 "or sooner if we have the data to make a decision" passed unanimously.

An earlier motion to deny the general plan amendment "at this time" failed 3-2 with only Supervisor Dean Lawrence and Buchanan voting for it. Also defeated 3-2 was a motion to table the item one week, with only Chairman Willie Curran and Supervisor William Thomas supporting that.

Pollution and erosion were two of the major points cited by opponents of the project.

On pollution, Ronald Pardini, director of development for Lakeword, said banks will be planted "to overcome a major portion of erosion."

The adequacy of spetic tanks was questioned. Pardini said the smallest lots will be 70 feet by 180 feet, or a little over one quarter acre.

Public sewers are planned for commercial parts of the development, but septic tanks are planned to serve single-family residences.

Public Works Director Harry Hider recommended the county hire a consulting sanitary engineer to review the proposed

Longo Resigns Planning Post

Francis Longo, Eastern Nevada county's representative to the county planning commission and a veteran member of that body, resigned last Monday.

Longo, who has served since 1963, directed a letter of resignation to the commission. He stated he considers commissioners his "personal friends," and wished the commission "good luck in future planning."

Longo later said he is resigning because he plans to leave the county to take a position elsewhere.

"I think the county has lost a dedicated servant, and will look a hell of a long time to find a replacement to fit your shoes," commented Linvingston. Ted Waddell echoed the sentiment.

Roy Peterson noted that "Francis has the longest continuous service of any member, and that we certainly will "notice his absence."

Referring to Longo's excellent attendance record despite storms and icy and snoy conditions over Highway Interstate 80, Bob Caris expressed "financial concern" for manufacturers of chains and the the "chain monkeys" along the highway.

Supervisor Willie Curran will name a successor. According to Livingston, "Francis participated in his last meeting Monday."

Ask Interest Hike On School Bonds

According to school board trustees voters in the Tahoe-Truckee Unified School District voted "yes" to a $2.76 million bond authorization in 1963. To date $1.58 million have been sold at five per cent to add eight classrooms to Tahoe Lake Elementary, seven classrooms and a six-bus garage to Kings Beach Elementary, $500,000 worth of improvements and additions to the Tahoe-Truckee High School, a bus garage for Donner Trail School, and to purchase ten acres on the west shore of Lake Tahoe for a new elementary school and for a site for a new high school near Tahoe City.

It was learned that at this time no one is buying school bonds at five per cent interest, and very few at seven per cent, but the local district has buyers for a $1 million bond issue at seven per cent.

Trustees said the $1 million bond was previously approved in 1963 at a maximum of five per cent interest. Today the district needs the money for construction of the planned Rideout Elementary School south of Tahoe City and for expansion of the Truckee Elementary School which hasn't been enlarged since its construction in 1959. Plans and site preparation work for both projects have been completed.

On February 24 district voters will be asked to authorize a reissue of the $1 million bond sale at the increased interest rate of seven percent.

Jack de Ryk, school board chairman, also announced that Jack Davis from the University of Nevada will also be retained by the district to complete a three-year study plan to determine future needs for school additions and facilities in the district.

White Man In Rediscovery Of Tahoe Indian Ecology

By JACK LIND
Sierra Sun Correspondent

"The Indians," says an old-timer at Lake Tahoe, "were the original environmentalists."

An environmentalist, as we know today, is an expert on the environment - one who understands about ecology and such matters and who does his bit to protect the environment.

The Indians, who from time to time inhabited the area, were such people, according to legend and according to such books as E. B. Scott's charming and lovingly compiled book, "The Saga of Lake Tahoe."

"The Indians never ripped any land," says one source who has studied the lake basin closely for many years.

"Every fall they would come in. They would never fish in the lake; they always fished the streams. And they never camped next to the streams, always a quarter of a mile away so they wouldn't disturb the streamside ecology."

(Even then, it appears, they had ecology although it was probably under a different name).

"Every fall, too, the Indians would come up with a work crew, rip-rap, remove snags and otherwise make sure the stream was in good shape and everything was cleaned up. They never ripped any land. Nature was their religion."

The same, unhappily, cannot be said for the white man when he arrived. There were explorers like Capt. John Charles Fremont and Charles Preuss - who have been given credit for being the first white man to reach the lake (in 1858) - who, no doubt, had only the purest motives at heart.

But behind them came men with nothing more pressing in mind than making a buck. They were anything but conservationists. In fact, they proceeded to rape the forests around Lake Tahoe at a staggering rate. They were the loggers.

Back in the 1870s and 80s, Tahoe Basin was logged intensively and the area, according to one source, was almost completely denuded. At one time there were seven mills going at full steam. Railroads were built to haul logs out to the shore where they were floated across the lake to cut up.

Much of the timber ended up in the Comstock Lode. As one historian noted dryly, "The forest of Tahoe is buried in Virginia City."

Still, despite all the logging and floating of logs in the lake, the water of Lake Tahoe is today miraculously clear and pure.

"It has had 60 years to regenerate itself," notes Raymond M. Smith, Nevada planning consultant. "The forest grew up again and the soil cover stabilized. Besides, during that period - from 1890 to about 1950 - there wasn't too many people, certainly no heavy population loading, and there was no bulldozing going on. The area was at rest."

Except for a few rich people who settled around the lake - mostly on the California side - to get away from the bustle of San Francisco and a few other metropolitan areas, things were

Immunize Students Against Hepatitis

Six cases of infectious hepatitis have been diagnosed this month within the student body of the Truckee Elementary School, and 150 students have received injections of Gamma Globulin.

Dr. Ray Wiser, assistant county health officer, made the announcement Friday, saying Gamma Globulin was given as a precautionary measure against spreading the disease. The preventative drug was furnished by the Bureau of Contract Services of the State Health Department.

The assistant health officer said he had concluded, from a health department investigation, that hepatitis orginally was contracted by the younger brother of a serviceman, who was visiting at home during the holidays.

Sierra Sun Observer

The big North Tahoe snowmobile races, originally scheduled for the Truckee-Tahoe Airport in Martis Valley but for lack of snow moved to Squaw Valley, are an important promotional event to the Tahoe-Truckee community.

It is also unique this year because for the first time it is being jointly sponsored by the North Lake Tahoe Chamber of Commerce and the Truckee-Donner Chamber of Commerce. Such cooperation has not always been evident.

Recreation, as we all know, is essential to the economy of this region. Promotional activities undertaken by either chamber benefits the entire community. There are many times when the benefit can be doubly enhanced by working together.

The two-day races are deserving of the support of every local resident. Your friends and neighbors have worked long and hard to make it a success. It's a great show. Don't leave it entirely to the tourists.

The headline on a wire service story the other day was probably routine in the eyes of most readers of that newspaper but must have caused doubletakes at many an editorial desk around the country. It read, "Guatamala Hunts Assassins Of Paper Editor."

This was the story: "The government threw all its security police into the search today for three terrorists who shot and killed Isidoro Zarco, 61, assistant editor of the newspaper Prensa Libre. Zarco was driving home for lunch yesterday when a small red car with three men in it pulled a longside. One of them fired a machine gun and hit Zarco three times in the head and once under the arm. He died almost immediately."

It's true we get alarming letters and telephone calls occasionally, and that we might even consider some of our more intense critics to be terrorists, but we trust they'll continue to exercise a little more control over their enthusiasm than Guatemalans.

Come to think of it, though, this is an election year. There are several controversial issues coming up, some touchy Republicans around, nervous and shifty-eyed Democrats peering out of the bushes. . .

It couldn't happen here, of course, but perhaps we'll just shy away from small red cars for a while nevertheless.

Note to culture-starved Tahoans: Alfred Rossi, drama professor at the University of California at Davis, says his troupe of actors would be willing to perform the new play "Donner" at Lake Tahoe if a suitable auditorium, theatre, or arena could be provided and if enough interest was noted to warrant moving massive stage and sets up here. The play portrays the epic struggle and tragedy of the Donner Party as they treked through this region 124 years ago. It is scheduled to be staged at the Davis campus February 28 through March 15.

Persons interested in supporting such a drama production for the area should contact Rossi at (916) 752-2144 in Davis, California. Regardless, it might be worthwhile to make the hour and a half drive next month to see the campus production.

Halt Merger Plans For Two Districts

Any further study of the proposed merger between North Tahoe and Tahoe City public utilities districts has been tabled indefinitely because of an apparent lack of interest in the project.

North Tahoe Public Utility District directors last week decided instead to open tentative negotiations for the purchase of Brockway Golf Course land at Kings Beach.

Another factor in the board's decision was to avoid possible duplication of effort in a study currently underway on the feasibility of city incorporation from Tahoma to Brockway.

The $3800 golf course feasibility study was highly optimistic from operational and financial points of view and figured in the merger discussion. The study was prepared by William Sherman Associates of San Francisco.

Directors agreed to another small expense of getting an opinion on whether the present nine-hole course could be expanded successfully.

The Sherman study projected a user-day figure of 16,900 per year by 1972 on 18 holes and 23,970 user-days in 1981.

Directors, through their recreation commission, are now talking to the owner, the Oakwood Investment Corp. The 125 acres, 50 of which are improved, could cost upward of $1 million.

The study projected an operating income of $51,870 in 1972 and a growth to $137,860 in 1981. The 1972 figure was based on gross income of $161,800 against expenses of $109,930.

Parish Men Set Dinner

A traditional "Shrove Tuesday' pancake supper will be offered to parishers and guests by the St. Nicholas Episcopal Church February 10 in the dining hall from 5:30 to 8 p.m.

The dinner will be cooked by men of the parish, and all are invited to attend the feast. A donation of $1.25 for adults is asked with children under 12 free.

Also on the same day the "Sacrament of Penance" will be heard in the church beginning at 5:30 p.m.

Ash Wednesday services include the "Imposition of Ashes and Holy Eucharist" at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack de Ryk in Truckee at 4:30 p.m. with the church service at the Tahoe City church at 7:30 p.m. During Lent a discussion on prayer and a service of the "Holy Eucharist" will be held every Wednesday beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Increased Density Use Requested

CARSON CITY – Executors of the George Whittell Estate Thursday asked the Advisory Planning Commission of Nevada Tahoe Regional Planning Agency (NTRPA) for higher density use of 1,300 acres in Tahoe Basin.

The commission took no action on the request, noting the matter should come up at the Feb. 12 public hearing on the proposed NTRPA general plan for development of the Nevada side of the basin. The hearing is set to begin at 2 p.m. at Cal-Neva Lodge at Crystal Bay.

The proposed general plan shows the 16,000-acre Whittell property as mostly open space.

Whittell executors said their plan calls for 8,200 units to be developed on about 1,300 acres. They stressed development would take place only if money is required to pay taxes or other expenses.

Casey Vlautin, Whittell Estate administrator of the First National Bank of Nevada, said, "we're involved in a three our four million dollar lawsuit over Zephyr Cove and there are state and other taxes."

He said the estate would be deeded to the state, "if given a fair price."

After the meeting, Roy Robinette, a leading conservationist at Lake Tahoe, said he has "five entities able and willing to acquire all the Whittell land" for development according to the NTRPA general plan.

Placer Aids Report Views On Pollution

County and city officials agree that an air pollution control organization is needed in Placer County but generally oppose a regional agency to do the job.

This was the attitude of representatives of the Placer City and County Officials Association meeting in Auburn to discuss ways of setting up an antismog control program.

Albert O. Marino of the Placer County Health Department explained he felt a countywide district could do a creditable job of air pollution control. He expressed opposition to a proposal of becoming part of a Sacramento regional district.

"Our future is our own," he said, "and we should solve our own problem."

Supporting the county plan was Auburn Councilman Harvey Eisley, who stated, "We should have our control of the district."

James Henry, a member of the Sacramento Area Regional Planning Commission which has suggested the regional approach, pointed out the agency is responsible for calling the attention of forming a controlling agency. Henry, a member of the Colfax City Council, said however, "I have mixed emotions whether the whole area should be controlled by a few people."

On a recommendation of Auburn Councilman Verne Fellows, the group agreed to discuss the matter on the city level and return each of the suggestions to the county.

Domergue Reelected

Jack Domergue was re-elected as the president of the Lake Tahoe Area Council by directors at a meeting last week.

Letter To The Editor

EDITOR, SIERRA SUN:

In the 1950's when I first moved to San Francisco I thought it was one of America's most beautiful cities. Sure, there was a skid row with some winos lying on the sidewalks even then, but the possibility of having to pass through that part of town was rather remote. There was also some mention of pollution in the bay that had destroyed the local oysters but that didn't matter either-oysters were abundantly supplied by some form of transport!

Starving Indians or Chinese-I'd heard about them since I was a small boy in kindergarten! An account of three hundred human beings dying of starvation in the Indian province of what's-its-name-pur is relegated to the bottom of page two, in any American paper and is quickly forgotten.

Even new accounts that should have rung like loud warning bells for all of us have gone unheeded! Killer smog settles on London . . . something about temperature inversion . . . stagnant air. . . four thousand deaths attributed to it! Lake Erie is perhaps beyond saving. . . an open cess pool. (Lake Tahoe? Lake Superior next?)

And those of you who read any serious publications: the Christian Science Monitor, the National Catholic Reporter, the Wall Street Journal-even perhaps the Tahoe City World-must have run across some of the following statistics: from numerous studies the earth's population is expected to double in the next 35 to 37 years! Accounts that food production is slowly falling in California's lush Imperial Valley due to salinity build-up; and, southern California now wants water to be piped down from northern California to meet its ever-growing needs. (When northern California out-grows its water supply who will go over and shut off the valve, controlling the life fluid to southern California?)

Pollution and the population explosion thus far in man's history, have varied concomitantly, one with the other. First read: "The Population Bomb" by Dr. Paul Eurlich, of Stanford University, and "Moment in the Sun" by Robert and Leona Rienow (both available in paperbacks). Secondly, attend the meetings, then join if you approve, some organizations such as the Sierra Club and Zero Population Growth, Inc.

Perhaps this letter-one of three hundred and fifty-four which I am posting will offend you-if so I am sorry, doubly sorry, in that I do not have enough skill as a writer to awaken you to these problems.

EDITOR, SIERRA SUN:

The following is an excerpt from "The Great Pyramid Zeezeh," by Louis P. McCarty, about the "Rocking Stone of Truckee."

"There are several rocking stones throughout the U. S. and Europe; but none of them so completely mystifies the observer, as the one located as above stated. This one is so isolated from the surrounding rocks, and the rocking stone itself so perfectly and delicately poised in the center of its perfectly level (on top) table stone, as to leave a doubt in the minds of most visitors, as to whether a freak of nature did the work, or, as some important personages claim, it was done by an extinct race of giants that flourished in the time of the "giant Og," who was 16 feet tall. (See Deuteronomy 3-11).

The table (stone) upon which this particular rocking stone rests, is shaped (very)like the "human heart" and stands on the small end, perfectly poised, some 30 feet high, with the strata or grain of the rock, running perpendicular. The top almost perfectly level, and some 25 feet in diameter. The Rocking Stone itself, shaped also like the "human heart" (but more perfect than its table stone), is located almost exactly in the center of the one on which it stands, (also poised on its small end) and weights about 16 tons; and yet it is so perfectly balanced that a child of five years can move it either way. The table stone upon which the Rocking Stone rests, may contain a considerable amount of "radium"; but whether it does or not, it is noted that snow (which lies all around it during the winter season, for weeks at a time) has never been known to remain upon this rock more than a few hours after any snow storm."

The Truckee-Donner Historical Society is now gathering bits of historical information about the Rocking Stone in an effort to have the unique natural stone formation designated a state historical landmark. I would hope anyone with additional stories or information about it would forward it to the society in care of Mrs. Dorothy Fordham, Emigrant Trail Curio Shoppe, P. O. Box 482, Truckee. Thank you.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Following is another letter from Harriet Washburn, former teacher at Tahoe-Truckee High School, telling of her extended travels through Europe.)

Greetings from the Happy Wanderer in Greece. I guess it's about time I did my homework and wrote to my Truckee friends. Hope the holiday season was a good one and that the skiing season is progressing well.

My "Jugosloven" sojourn was a challenging experience. A visit to a small village near the Romanian border was an unexpected but pleasant side track. For almost two months, I lived a simple life bereft of all modern conveniences save electricity and television. Plenty of opportunity to examine modern living from another point of view and realize the illusions we deem necessary for existance.

As winter came to Erupe, the "grip," or Asian flue, swept southward, leaving a wake of sorrow. Fortunately, I've been too fat and sassy to get it (yet!). The snow fell in unusually heavy storms, breaking records. Biggest snow in Vienna in 42 years! Eruopean transportation was muddled beyond comparison.

This became most evident to me the day I left Yugoslavia for Greece. Christmas eve is better spent elsewhere than in a railroad station waiting for a train that is six hours late, unless you meet a couple of Americans and some friendly Greeks and you all settle down to a feast. Grapes, feta (goatsmilk cheese), bread, sausage and wine, Christmas day I read St. Matthew's Story of Christ's birth as I watched the hilly, barren landscape of Montenegro out the window. I caught a glimpse of shepherds with their sheep and suddenly the whole story had new meaning. We arrived in Athens at 11:11 p.m., nine hours late.

Athens, a village at the foot of the Acropolis when the Turkish were routed from Greece in the 1830's, is a busy modern city today. In chatting with other Americans here, I found that I was not the only one who kept catching themselves thinking of California at odd moments. The heart of Athens, Constitution Square, is for me a dead ringer for Union Square in San Francisco. And, much like Los Angeles, Athens sprawls for 150 square miles, with suburbs extending out to the coast and up surrounding hillsides.

Greek history is readily available thoughout the country and goes hand in glove with the mythology which you never quite got straightened out in literature class. However, the Greek people are happy to help you discover their heritage. Fine tours are available with certified guides who speak excellent English. The American tourist baffled by the Cryllic alphabet, as well as "It's Greek to me" sounds, is quite delighted to find English spoken in Athens with the travelers international sign language running a close second throughout Greece. It is the "in thing" to speak English here. People even take private lessons to learn it, so they will gladly take any opportunity to overwhelm you with their mastery!

My own pilgrimage through time was in the form of the classical tour with the Viking Travel Agency, which kindly caters to the budget-minded student and teacher. As we journeyed to Delphi and Olympia, tales of ancient soothsayers and proud sportsmen filled my memory. We were filled with awe as we gazed at the huge stones said to have been lifted into place by the Cyclopean people for Hercules and Agamemnon at Tiryns and "Golden Mykinai."

Homer quite accurately wrote of those two places, and the 19th century German merchant, Schliemann, believed him. First uncovering Troy and then coming to Greece, thus causing a whole new direction in archaeology (and the tourist industry!). But where was the culture that came before Homer, wondered Sir Arthur Evans early in the 20th century, after Schliemann had been well publicized. Sir Arthur's interest in ancient coins led him to discover a form of writing developed in Crete where the Minoan civilization lay forgotten. The Labyrinth of Knossos, which he particularly reconstructed, stands today as a monument to a people who lived without fear for 2,000 years.

Returning to Athens, I hounded the National Museum where most of the major finds from these sites are housed. Others are still in custody of the British Museum in London, including the famous "Elgin Marbles." Most famous of these are the statues which decorated the Parthenon. At the base of the Acropolis are the ruins of both the Classic and Roman city reconstructed in large part by the American School of Classical Studies.

The Byzantine period, created by the Greek Orthodox split with the Roman Catholic Church, can be remembered in tiny brick churches which dot the older part of town, and in the monasteries built "far from the madding crowd" on lofty hillsides where the sky is blue, the trees are green, and the soul is called to peace.

The Turkish occupation of some 400 years is seen in different ways. The hole blown in the side of the Parthenon is a bitter memory of the explosion of Turkish munitions stored there. The treeless hillsides remember the occupation as cruel lumbermen. Turkish coffee is served in all sidewalk cafes in southeastern Europe. But the Greek people prefer to remember their Classic History.

Five years of German occupation, followed by civil war, left Greece weak and tired of strife. A memory not forgotten by the older generation today. I leave you to read a very comprehensive report of the present situation in the January 19 issue of Newsweek. It was quickly banned from the newsstands here.

Well, wanderlust is seeing me off soon to sunny Italy and la dolce vita. My best to all.

HARRIET WASHBURN

District Grant Delay Asked

TAHOE CITY – Lahontan Regional Water Quality Control Board has asked that a Federal Water Pollution Control Administration (FWPCA) grant to Tahoe City and North Tahoe public utility districts for a waste disposal site near here be withheld because of alleged faulty construction of disposal trenches.

The $5,000 grant would be one third of total cost. Fred McLaren, of the Lahontan unit, said if the FWPCA does withhold the grant, it should be released after corrections are made.

Speaker Outlines Pollution Problems

The Air Pollution Citizen's Advisory Committee last week discussed the extent of air pollution in the county at present, prevention of the future, and methods of control.

Cy Armstrong, county sanitarian, Harmon Wong-Woo and James Morgester of the Air Resources Board, and Charles Cleary, Nevada County assistant sanitarian, outlined possible control plans which included county ordinances, a county air pollution control district, or a regional air pollution control district.

Nevada's assembly sent back to committee for further study a joint resolution requesting California to declare a plebiscite of all people living east of the Sierra summit to determine whether they desire to be annexed to Nevada.

Fosten Wilson, somewhere with Patton's army in Europe, now rates as a sergeant major. Wilson writes that the food and other articles they are short, they accept as being due to war conditions and without the civilian growls. He is not looking forward to the deep mud and rains in the spring and doesn't even try to guess when the war will end.

50 Years Ago

Measurements taken this week show that the water level of Lake Tahoe is lower than it has been at this season of the year for many years. The low water mark established during last summer still shows on the shore line. There is less snow on the east side of the lake than ever before.

John White, Placer County resident since 1880, died in Auburn last Monday afternoon. He was 95 at the time. He had been a blacksmith, a hardware merchant and landlord in the Auburn area before his passing. In his prime, he was reputed to be the strongest man in the county. Surviving are his sons, C.B. White, secretary of the Truckee chamber of commerce, and J.K. White of San Francisco.

The state highway is open to Emigrant Gap from Auburn and several auto parties pushed over it last Sunday. There is but 14 inches of snow at Cabin 3 on the PT&T Company Flat six miles above Cisco. If the fine weather keeps up, the road will be open soon over the summit.

The Goldwyn Picture Corporation is busy building log cabins on the hill north of Donner Lake and as soon as the snow arrives, the rest of the company will arrive from Los Angeles to make an Alaskan picture. Reginald Barker, who made "The Brand" here last winter, will direct this picture with an all-star cast.

Truckee Tales

By BETTY KIELHOFER

I found from Ruthie Parkhurst that she plans to be married to Joe Sanders May 16 in the local Methodist Church. She said they are to stay in Truckee but some day want to locate in Reno. Ruthie is just one of Bank of America's efficient tellers. Congratulations will soon be in order but I'd like to be a little premature in wishing you happiness first!

Just read in the Digest that a skier's sandwich is called Slalomi - that a snowflake is a raindrop wearing an ermine coat and that snow is "instant urban renewal." Ain't that a fact?

---

And from the Keene, N. H. Sentinel: "In the fields of sewage and air pollution, we can't afford to bury our heads."

---

Arlene Smart glowed when she said she and Reg plan two weeks in Hawaii come May, (or was it April?) Anyway, they never get any vacations any further away than San Francisco so this one will be a real joy.

We're very likely to have a celebrity among us soon as Bob Burrows has invented and received his patent on a new gadget called an adaptor. It was initially for his dune buggy but can be placed in almost any vehicle. It affords more speeds and also an overdrive. No more getting stuck anywhere. He and Susie are off to Erie, Pennsylvania for a month where her brother, who is head of Detroit Steel, has all the connections with the manufacturers. Sounds like a very lucrative invention to me. Will work on snowmobiles too. Great luck to them and if all goes like they expect back there, I'm going to touch them on their return in hopes some of this will rub off on me.

Susie and Jo informed me that arriving today to fill in for Susie in the Riverside Beauty Salon in her absence will be Barbara Inderbitzen from Walnut Creek. They recommend her very highly in her field and hope all you regulars will drop in to meet her. She will be here quite awhile as she will also fill in for Jo when the stork arrives.

If any of you have a baby-sitting problem, Evelyn McQuary is licensed for this now and calls her business Kiddieland. She keeps any child over two-years-old day or night, either permanently or by the hour. I believe this is the only one of kind in this vicinity and should be very helpful to many busy mothers. Call 587-3489. She lives in Meadow Park.

Bill Scanlon has been working right along as Quality Supervisor at Fibreboard Mill even though he is still on crutches. He will be presented with a Master Lumberman Certificate at the annual meeting of the Western Wood Products Association March 6 which will be held at the St. Francis Hotel in San Francisco. It's quite an honor. He told me he has held a grading certificate covering all grades and all species since 1935. He's gotta be some kind of expert, wouldn't you say?

Guess you all know by now that Billie Cadjew bought the Beauty Boutique from Lola Kumle lately but Lola is still there. Billie is very good with high styling and in fixing long hair. That's an art nowadays.

Heard Jo Brown is racing around the house on crutches now with cast removed but still won't be well for about three more weeks. Her son, Slug, told me she's still knittin' up a storm. For him, she made a pink hat and a blue sweater. Now that's a right delicate combination for someone as dainty as Slug, wouldn't you guess?

I'll have to say I was disappointed to find we are losing Carl Briggs to South Tahoe. He's been so active in the local affairs and tops as our editor. There's no doubt he rankled some of the people with those intrepid editorials but I admire someone who says just what they think on important issues and detest those who are in positions to solve our problems but ride the fence with fancy talk and little action to avoid criticism. Hope you continue to write an article for our paper at least, Carl, as we really enjoy them. For Gary Buscombe, looks like you're well on your way in the newspaper business and hope you are as fearless in your pursuits as was Carl. Good luck to both of you.

By the way, if any of you out there have a two or three bedroom furnished house, call Gary at the Sun and unless he's found one by now, you'll have a good little renter.

"Everybody has the right to be wrong, at least once." The Richard Sligars' sold their home much to everyones dismay. We really thought they would hold on to it and come back to us. It's permanent now and the former Sligar house is now the residence of Mr. & Mrs. Jake Elkins of San Leandro, Calif. By the time this is in print the Sligars will be in Los Angeles hard at work in their new co-investment of the Kingswood Lanes in Studio City. We will miss them, especially yours truly and family. We said our goodbyes Thursday night at a pizza and champagne farewell. Tears were abundant and the champagne dulled the pain so very little!

Congratulations are in order to Gary Buscombe, new editor of the Sun. We wish him well in an exciting journalistic adventure. Sincere thanks and appreciation we give to you, Carl Briggs, for allowing us to be heard from and for your interest and concern for the Tahoe-Truckee area of which you were so much a part. Good luck in the finer things of life.

I hate goodbyes and so I will take this coming week to "think happy" and do better next week!

Choir Needs New Members

BANK BRANCH PLANNED - Bank of America last week awarded the construction contract for the new Truckee branch home located at Donner Pass Road and highway 89. The rustic building was designed by Olympic Valley architect James Morton. Groundbreaking is scheduled for early spring and completion in late summer.

Plan New B Of A For Truckee

The contract for the new Bank of America branch office in Truckee was awarded to the Lamon Construction Company of Yuba City, branch manager Hal Silva has announced.

He said construction on the $300,000 building will begin next spring. Designed by James Morton, an Olympic Valley architect, the branch's new home will be located at the corner of Donner Pass Road and highway 89. The bank currently occupies a site on Commercial Row.

"We think our new home will be a particularly striking addition to the community," Silva said. "The heavy wood influence in the architecture will blend in nicely with the local environment."

The building is to be constructed of heavy timber framing, the manager said. It will feature redwood siding boards, a shingled mansard foof, and multipaned windows.

Inside there will be exposed redwood siding with stained and exposed glulaminated wood beams. Florescent light fixtures in the main banking room will be incased and dropped in redwood frames from the main wood beams.

The building will contain over 6,600 square feet of floor space, including a mezzanine, making it nearly a third larger than the old branch. Serving customers inside will be streamlined teller counters with 13 stations, a carpeted officer's area, with room for six desks, two coupon booths, conference and staff rooms, safe deposit facilities and a night depository.

There will also be a 30-car parking lot with a drive - up teller window for the convenience of customers, Silva said.

He expects to open for business in the new branch within six months after the groundbreaking.

Lakeworld Decision Delayed . . .

Pardini also said a minimum of $14 million will be spent in developing, but a delay in approving the general plan change might make Lakeworld lose interest in proceeding. He explained that the further preparation must be done now so contruction can start in June; otherwise, the short summer construction season might be lost.

Lakeworld's development would begin three quarters of a mile from the Gateway subdivision which marks the outskirts of Truckee. Although most of the 4,000-acre site is listed as general forest environment, it borders on and includes some land marked urban desity on the general plan.

The county planning commission approved the change 5-2, and the motion stated: "Since it is relatively adjacent to the gateway to Truckee and the gateway to other recreation-residential properties, it becomes a logical progression for residential zoning."

The development would be along Trout and Alder Creeks, and possible pollution of those streams from erosion and or runoff was a prime consideration at the board's hearing. Also mentioned was a mule deer migratory trail which goes through the subdivision.

The planning commision's motion admitted the "probable diverse effect to wildlife and fish life" and added a hope that the developer will reduce this problem "to a minimum." The commission concluded that the development would "have a good financial effect" and be good for the welfare of Nevada county's citizens.

At Tuesday's board hearing, Pardini spoke first and explained the general concept. He said more then $250,000 has been spent "to prove its feasibility, not only to ourselves but to the county."

Historic Guide To Truckee-Tahoe Area

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the twentieth in a series of excerpts taken from "Edwards' Tourist Guide and Directory of the Truckee Basin," published in 1883 by W. F. Edwards, former editor of the Truckee Republican.)

Few people who have been in New York in the winter season have failed to observe the joyous enthusiasm that prevails when the "ball is up at Central Park" denoting that the skating is good. Within an hour after the red globe has been displayed at the top of the flagpole hundreds of people are seen hurrying toward the park. There is no distinction of age, sex, or rank - the high, the low, the rich, the poor; all who can, forsake their usual pursuits and hasten to the skating ground. There is a wonderful fascination in this art of skating. The swift, graceful evolutions, the healthful, glowing exercise, the unwonted good humor that animates everyone - these, and a thousand untold charms combine to place it first among the list of amusements.

California people are noted for their pleasure seeking, pleasure loving propensities, and the crowded skating rinks, so called, of the larger cities, attests the California's fondness for skating. In these rinks, amid dust, impure air, and confusion worse confounded, brought in close and unavoidable contact with the most questionable characters, hundreds of people upon clumsy, slow-moving rollers, attempt to imitate the art of skating. How miserably they fail in rivaling the winged swiftness, the easy gliding motion, the fresh, pure exhilerating exercise of skating, that used to charm in bygone days. Yet the ready patronage these rinks receive, prove that the people would appreciated a smooth sheet of ice under clear open sky.

It is not generally known that up here in the summits of the Sierras amidst the grandest of scenery, in the purest of atmosphere is a mountain encircled lake that is the finest skating park in America. In a few years fares will be less than at present and excursion tickets from San Francisco and Sacramento will enable those who have only moderate means to visit Donner Lake when the telegraph announces that skating is good.

The thousands who visit the Sierra in the summer season will learn that these grand old mountains have even greater attractions in the winter. A few hours ride in the cars will bear them from smoky, foggy impure air of the crowded streets up into the region where the air is such as the angels breathe, where a mantle of snow hides all the imperfections and displays all the beauties of a wild mountainous area. They will find Donner Lake guarded as closely by the mountain peaks and groups of sentinal pines as when in the summer time, it forms the study of Bierstadt.

Suspended like a thread far above the lake on the steep mountain side, the track, the snow-sheds of the Central Pacific wind and curve, now disappearing around some jutting crag, or behind some group of pines and now shooting into a tunnel to be wholly lost to sight. But the lake has a new and greater attraction than all these. Its many broad acres of surface is a field of smooth, firm ice capable of affording ample room for then thousand skaters.

(More next week.)

Banquet To Honor Longo

Rovzar Leads Sewage Unit

A five-district committee investigating methods of sewage disposal from North Lake Tahoe to the Truckee – Martis Valley area named Leigh Rovzar chairman and Jack Marquette secretary of the group at a meeting last week.

Rovzar is manager of the Alpine Meadows sewer and water district and Marquette is manager of the Truckee sanitary district.

The five district managers met at North Tahoe Public Utility District headquarters to adopt a resolution for presentation to the respective districts, calling for funding according to sewage volume and setting forth the fields of study.

The five districts are North Tahoe, Tahoe City, Alpine Meadows, Squaw Valley and Truckee. The committee named in its resolution engineers Dewante & Stowell of Sacramento and Dan Cook of Oroville.

Commence Work On Tahoe Forest Units

Construction has begun on the 208-unit townhouse development near Tahoe City known as "Villas at Lake Forest."

Developers of the condominium hope to sell the units primarily to young business and professional "singles" as second homes and are encouraging the bachelors to pool their resources for purchases of the $25,900 and up residences.

Condominiums West, Inc., of Reno is developing the $5.5 million cluster complex on Highway 28 one mile from Tahoe City.

Lake Tahoe Ecology Said Part Of Its Indian Heritage

relatively peaceful, even serene, until aroung 1950.

Nobody thought much about ecology - first because there was no need to, and second because in those days nobody had ever heard of the word.

And then, about 20 years ago as was almost inevitable, gambling - or gaming as its genteel practitioners like to call it - came to Lake Tahoe.

It started modestly enough. Harvey Gross, a Nevada rancher and onetime butcher, was one of the first to build a small gambling establishment at Stateline, on the Nevada side of the South Shore.

Modest though it was at first, the influx of gambling interests at Lake Tahoe precipitated major changes in the lake's environment and brought about what can best be described as a revoluntionary change of scene.

(The scope of the gambling scene at Tahoe is illustrated by the fact that the take has increased from a scant $4 million a year in the early 1950s to an estimated $57 million last year).

The invasion of gambling was, of course, a monstrosity of the first order to the wealthy property owners living in gracious seclusion along the lake shore - both on the California and the Nevada side.

And things got worse, from their point of view, as shops, hotels, restaurants and other service industries moved in to cater to increasingly large crowds that converged on the area to enjoy gambling and hobnobbing with the stars performing at casinos and nightclubs.

Trees were mercilessly chopped down to make room for roads, parking lots and buildings.

And with this development came garish neon signs and the septic tank which, to the mind of most conservationists, is synonymous with water pollution.

It is, in short, a city planner's nightmare - only there wasn't and city planner around. In fact, there wasn't even a city then.

What's more, there were virtually no controls to insure an orderly development. What little was on the books of El Dorado and Douglas counties was hopelessly inadequate to control this rapidly-growing sprawl.

"You could get a variance for just about anything in those days," says John Williams, who became city manager of the newly incorporated City of South Lake Tahoe in 1966. (It now has a population of about 15,000 and is the only incorporated city in the Tahoe Basin).

With the sprawl came all the problems of unplanned urbanization - problems that appeared all the more appalling in the context of a lovely mountain lake environment.

For example, during the summer months, the South Shore sewage system (it has since been replaced by one of the most modern sewage treatment plants in the world) was unable to cope with the heavy load and frequently overflowed into the lake.

It was, from an ecological point of view, something very close to a disaster area - yet local and state politicians, with a very few exceptions, paid hardly any attention to the situation. It wasn't fashionable to talk about ecology and, in fairness, nobody really knew much about it then.

The discovery of Lake Tahoe as a superb resort area by the less well-to-do brought thousands of travelers into the lake basin during the late 1950s and this, in turn, led to a number of helter-skelter housing developments around the lake - again developments built mostly without any controls whatever.

Then came the news that Squaw Valley had been picked as the site for the 1960 Winter Olympics. This brought skiers in large numbers to Tahoe and with them the need for ever more housing and service facilities (Lake Tahoe ski areas now account for an estimated 850,000 skier days a year vs. a puny 35,000 in 1955).

Still, little was being done to insure an orderly development of Lake Tahoe Basin; the county politicians, nearly all based in five county seats miles away from the basin, took, with a few exceptions, only marginal interest in the area.

It remained for a relatively few concerned property owners and conservation-minded organizations to set in motion what may ultimately become a smoothly-operating machinery, run by dedicated professionals, to preserve the lake and, hopefully, make the basin even more beautiful than it is today. And, for all the mistakes, the blunders and the artful dodging, Lake Tahoe remains today one of the most spectacularly beautiful areas in the country.

No politician worth is salt is without an ecological issue these days. From President Nixon on down they've all jumped on the ecological bandwagon.

Ecology is today what motherhood was in another day and age; everybody's in favor of it and a lot of people are talking about it - although in vague terms.

It is clearly an issue that politicians of all shades can embrace. It is non-controversial. It means preserving the land and our national resources - and who can be against that?

The word "ecology" derives from the Greek word oikos which means house. Hence, ecology has come to mean the study of houses, or in a broader sense, the study of man's evnironment.

From this it has come to mean the study of the relationship of living things - plant and animal life - to their environment.

Now politicians and others are using the term to say that it's about time we stopped raping the land and do the best we can to avoid disturbing nature's precarious balance.

It's a little late to start-after all man has been spending a good part of a century ignoring nature and trying his best to poison himself - but it's probably not yet too late.

While the issue of ecology is a new one with the politicians, conservationists have been with it for quite some time (although they didn't use the particular term) and nowhere have they been more aggressive about it than at Lake Tahoe.

It's been a long, uphill fight marred by much bickering, jealousy and even arguments about ultimate goals and purposes.

Those outside the tight little group of conservationists have sardonically referred to them as "posy pluckers" and "people in tennis shoes."

This is not altogether fair; the conservationists, most people agree, generally are motivated by a desire to see the beauty, clarity and purity of Lake Tahoe preserved. But there ends the agreement.

"I think it's fair to say that some of these conservationists are more altruistic than others," says one long - time resident who has watched conservationists at work from the sidelines.

What he refers to is the so-called gangplank syndrome that afflicts some of the more atriculate conservationists. These are the residents who have lived around the lake for some time and don't want anyone else to come in.

"I'm here - now pull up the gangplank," they say and come on strongly against any and all developments that will bring more people to Tahoe Basin.

It's not easy to find a conservationist who will admit to suffering this syndrome.

"I hope I'm not like that," says Roy Robinette, a former paint company executive who lives at Incline Village and who has been one of the most aserbic critics of developments in various parts of the basin.

Yet, while he talked volubly about "ecological balance" in the area, he makes it perfectly clear that personally he'd like to see just about all the land around Lake Tahoe become public property, that is become park and forest land, which "people can sit on and walk in."

It's a nice thought, but perhaps not altogether fair to either the land owners in the basin who ought to have some say about what - within proper bounds - they want to do with their property, or members of the public who have fallen in love with the area and would like to live at least part of the time in it.

What it boils down to, then, is to try to strike a proper balance between the development of recreational land - both private and public - and preservation of the basin's scenic beauty.

These two considerations need not be incompatible, in the opinion of most people, including some of the conservationists.

Today, we do have the tools and the equipment to make for an orderly well-balanced development of the basin without damage to its ecology.

"What it comes down to," remarked Raymond Smith, a Reno planning consultant and Harvard graduate, in discussing conservationists at Lake Tahoe, "is that everyone at Tahoe has a set of values, and Tahoe means something different to everyone. Each one is trying to preserve, somehow, his unique set of values."

One of the first conservation efforts, as nearly as anybody can recall, began around 1959 when Joseph F. McDonald Sr., then publisher of the Nevada State Journal in Reno, formed the Nevada - California Lake Tahoe Association.

The association, which later became the Lake Tahoe Area Council, was the first to espouse the bi-state regional concept for future development of the lake basin.

McDonald (now retired) was among the first to become appalled by the profligate development of the basin, mostly on the South Shore, and to see the need for controls.

At the time, there were virtually no building codes and everybody did approximately as he pleased. The result was dreary.

Through his efforts, the Lake Tahoe Area Council (LTAC) received a $125,000 grant from the Fleischmann Foundation for the study of a plan to treat and export sewage, much of which had, until then, been unceremoniously dumped into the lake, by sheer overflowing of the limited existing facilities.

(The ultimate result of his spade work was the South Tahoe Public Utility District, which is now the proud operator of one of the world's finest sewage treatment plants).

Through the years that followed, LTAC, for much of the time run on a day-to-day basis by Mrs. Lois Williams, a cool, efficient lady, has done much to educate the people around the lake to what she regards as threats to the purity and clarity of the lake's water.

The group's achievements are many and substantial, but even Mrs. Williams has her own little intramural hassles with members of LTAC.

Since then, others have gotten into the act - the Sierra Club, the Audubon Society (both of which are represented by the above mentioned Mr. Robinette), the League to Save Lake Tahoe, California Tomorrow, and a few others.

"These pressure - interest groups are marvelous," says Robert Rice, Lake Valley District ranger for the U.S. Forest Service, tongue in cheek. He represents Eldorado National Forest on the California side of Lake Tahoe Basin.

Sometimes, Rice adds, "people only hear what they want to hear. People don't take time to find out how factual it is." This, presumably, applies to conservationists as well as others.

There is nothing cynical or deprecatory about his remarks. Not only is he, too, deeply concerned with the future of Lake Tahoe's basin, but he is, in fact, a vice president of LTAC

Rice, an agreeable, pleasant man who, unlike Robinette, has no compunction about swimming in any part of the lake, is guardedly optimistic about the lake and its future.

He thinks the type of developments some conservationists have objected to will continue for a period of time before things get better - until the new bi-state regional planning agency has had time to promulgate its own laws and rules.

flash! GRANDMA'S COOKING WAS NOT THAT GREAT!

Sure we all look back fondly on the past, and grandma's cooking is one of our most pleasant memories. But you can bet her memories are a lot different . . . like that old woodburning stove with the hot spots that scorched the food, and the hours spent waiting for the oven to heat up, and, of course, the backbreaking chore of scouring and scrubbing after each meal. Well, times change and so do grandmas. Today they treat their grandchildren to that great "grandma-style" cooking in fast, economical, self-cleaning electric ranges and ovens.

North Lake Tahoe Chamber Pot Shots

By BETTY LAYTON

We're a nation of technicians, but we can't master the weather or predict a storm a week in advance! For this reason, we're a chamber of commerce of true optimism plotting, mapping and charting the all-out Snowmobile Races but we have had to move them to where the snow covers the ground - the Squaw Valley Meadow.

Our "Miss Sierra Snowflake," lovely Sharon Roberts, is really in demand for publicity shots. She has been photographed for Air West magazine, she will represent the chamber in the Kings Castle Snowmobile Queen Pageant and she will award the trophies to the winners of the snowmobile contest Saturday night at the Awards Dinner at Crystal Bay Club. She will also be honorary hostess along with Honorary Judges Steve Atkins, Ted Dawson and Professor John James, at the races on Saturday. "Miss Snowflake" is also featured in publicity, with proper recognition, for Gen. Amer. Dev. Corp.

For our chamber Snowmobile Races, Kings Castle is donating a large trophy to the overall winner who receives the most points in the modified class in all the men's races.

Our bon vivant supervisor, Bill Briner, will be working with the chamber and the Sierra Pacific Power Co. on Project Underground Wiring for our Greater North Lake Tahoe area. Prexy Mein will appoint representatives from the Kings Beach, Tahoe City and West Shore areas to work with him and to come up with plans to be considered for the power company's tremendously important community projects.

At the Placer County Recreation Commission meeting in Auburn, Jan. 27, the chamber supported John Kearn's request for a dual pier (one side public and the other side strictly private) to be erected on the site of the present Tahoe Marina Lodge in Tahoe City. It would be very restrictive to have another "Wall of China" without access to rental boats and public facilities for the tourist trade.

One of the best free bargain entertainment evenings for locals, as well as visitors, is the program which the U.S. Forest Service is staging every Saturday night at 8 p.m. in the Powder Bowl Ski Lodge.

Welcome new members: George C. Graham's North Shore Body Shop, Kings Beach and KTHO Radio Station, Emerald Broadcasting Company, South Lake Tahoe. Ray Huston, membership chairman, announced that a new chamber directory will be updated soon and he wants to include as many businesses as possible. He will be spearheading a New Year's drive for new members in the next six weeks.

---

Les and Judy Edinburg have the right idea. They are staging a bridge tournament (for the non-professionals) with a little assist from the chamber. It will be held nightly in Sunnyside Lodge, February 10-15, 7 p.m. First, second and third place trophies will be awarded and the entry fee is just $1.50 for the 5 days of fun. Entry forms are available in the chamber office.

Trem Talk

By SUSIE FISH

Welcome February, and may TREM be the first to wish a tardy but very happy Groundhogs Day to Mr. Santamaria.

Friday night the Wheatland Pirates came to play on TNT courts against our illustrious Wolverines. The JV game began at 6:30 p.m. and enthusiastic rooters cheered them on to victory, 69 to 62. Shortly following, the TNT pep band helped to stir up the spirit as the varsity played an excellent game, winning 59 to 50. Bill Kinzie was the high point man for the game.

Saturday night a bus of 58 supporters traveled to Reno where Tahoe-Truckee played the Reno Ramblers. Both the J.V. and varsity won their games.

Be sure to buy your rooter's bus ticket any day during noon to see the Wolverines play the Colfax Falcons Friday. Then Saturday come to the TNT courts and watch us wipe out Loyalton. With a student body card admission is free.

Did you know that Tahoe-Truckee is fourth in the Big Little Five for Northern California?

* * *

Saturday, the TNT ski team journeyed to Tahoe Ski Bowl. Girl racers were: Babe Street, first; Debby Everson, third; Judy Price, sixth; Patty Northrup, eighth; Patty Tilton, ninth. In boys competition there were: Russ Brett, first; John Scoville, thirteenth; Scott Hawkins; Randy Austin; David Kahn. Girl placing showed Tahoe - Truckee first and boys in fifth. Overall placement showed Tahoe-Truckee first. Other schools represented were: Lee Vining, El Dorado, Placer, Portola, Ponderosa, Skyline, South Tahoe, and Auburn. This Saturday they will travel to Heavenly Valley for another victory.

* * *

Tonight the Tahoe-Truckee wrestling team with coach Bob Stein will host a meet against Wheatland. The first match will begin at 6:30. This is the first year we have wrestled in a league. Be sure to come and show you care.

* * *

A silent revolution is taking place. The Tahoe-Truckee constitution is finally being run out of town. A new one, with basic articles and by-laws instead of amendments is replacing the old one. Every Tuesday the executive council with advisor Mrs. Lucchesi meets. The new constitution will be posted on various bulletin boards soon and we urge students to take special notice.

Teen Center Funds Sought

Nearly $3,000 is needed by the North Tahoe Youth Committee to finance remodeling of the former Frontier Village and operate it through the summer as the North Tahoe Teen Center.

The needed money is part of a tentative budget of $4,030 set by the committee.

The budget includes $2,395 worth of lumber and other building materials and more than $1500 worth of labor has been donated to the project.

Two directors, one male and one female, will be hired for $200 per month plus room and board, to operate the center for the summer. Their salaries will be paid by the Tahoe City Recreation Association.

Donations may be made to the NTYC, Box 1456, Tahoe City.

NEWS FROM NORTH TAHOE PUBLIC UTILITY DISTRICT

In this space every week, or as often as necessary, the directors of the North Tahoe Public Utility District will try to keep their taxpayers informed about important district developments.

At the last meeting on Jan. 26 the proposed merger with the Tahoe City Public Utility District was tabled indefinitely after about two months of discussions between the two districts and with local residents. Further study was tabled after a short discussion of the matter. Director Ben Ferrari moved the tabling and director Albert Burghardt seconded. The board voted unanimously. Your district is involved in negotiations for recreation facilities in the Kings Beach area. The possibilities of incorporation are being studied. The directors thought that considering the merger with Tahoe City at this time would complicate the negotiations for the recreational facilities.

Property owners in Sewer Assessment Districts 5A and 5B between Watson Creek and the north side of Dollar Hill will be notified soon of a new bid opening date of March 3. This will done in Auburn. Engineers Murray and McCormick estimate the project cost at $3.6 million. The county supervisors rejected all bids last July because they thought the assessments were too high and at the same time promised to work for some federal relief in view of federal demands for sewers at Lake Tahoe. Supervisor Bill Briner, Assemblyman Eugene Chappie, Congressman Bizz Johnson and North Tahoe Director Robert Daneri worked for weeks toward this end, but finally all applications for federal aid were rejected.

Directors and district manager Tom Llewellyn have been meeting with property owners in discussions of new methods of spreading assessments in districts 5A and 5B. Property owners must realize that the land, for the most part, is steep and rocky and quite difficult to serve with sewers. Assessments are difficult to spread because of the wide variation in lot sizes. One of the major problems in the two districts is trying fairly to assess the larger lots. Directors and their engineers realize that in many cases only one dwelling occupies even the larger lots and that it would be extremely difficult to place a second dwelling on many of the larger parcels. Thus, every attempt will be made not to penalize the larger lots, especially because in many cases they will contribute sewage from only one dwelling.

Bids in districts 5A and 5B are being opened on March 3 so that property owners will know exactly what their assessments are when they receive their first assessment notices; unlike last year, the assessments will not change once people are notified of them. March 3 should be early enough in the year so that taxpayers will benefit by a fair number of contractors looking for contracts to take them through the coming summer.

North Tahoe directors want the people to be informed. They invite discussion and attendance at any of their meetings.

Walling, driving a team of eight Siberian huskies, won the 11-mile race ahead of Jack Daniels of Nevada City, who placed second with hounds Saturday but was disqualified yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Pat Daniels of Nevada City drove huskies to first place in class B, covering eight miles in 44 minutes and 22 seconds, ahead of Betty Allen, Murphy's, who drove hounds and Irish setters to a 55:44 clocking.

Class C went to Laurie Leach of Mill Valley, who drove three huskies three miles in 29:54. Second went to Steve Walling, Truckee, with 33:01.

Sponsored by the Sierra Sled Dog Racers, the competition was a preliminary to the Ebbetts Pass races Feb. 28 and March 1 at Dorrington, 25 miles east of Angel's Camp.

League Lead Held By TNT

The varsity Wolverine cage squad continued their winning ways last week by thundering past Wheatland 61-50 in a Pioneer league game in the home court.

Bill Kinzie led the Truckee basketballers by tallying 18 points.

Other league standings are: Colfax, second; Colusa, third; and Lincoln, fourth.

Overall season standings show the Wolverines have lost three games and won 15.

Next scheduled match is against Colfax Friday there.

The JV team also beat Wheatland 69-62 making their season standing read two losses and ten wins.

Snow Talk

By VI and CARSON WHITE

From the looks of things, February will be a geat winter sport mouth. Many activities have been scheduled and ample snow covers the ski slopes.

The Tahoe Truckee Snowmobile races at Squaw Valley Meadows will begin Saturday with three classes of stock and modified events and a Grand Prix race on Sunday. Admission will be $1.00 with children under 12 free.

Miss Sierra Snowflake, Sharon Roberts of Donner Lake will be reigning over the two - day affair, presenting trophies to the winners.

A $50,000 snowmobile race is scheduled for the Kings Castle area at Incline Village February 26 to March 1.

On Saturday evenings at 8 p.m., the U. S. Forest Service in co-operation with the Powder Bowl Ski Lodge presents a program dealing with conservation. A Warren Miller ski film is also shown as an added feature.

The programs will run until March 14 at Powder Bowl located on the Alpine Meadows road, just off Highway 89.

A North Tahoe Snow Travelers group has been formed and is open to all interested snowmobilers in the area. They plan group trips according to president Jim Emerick.

Fantastic skiing conditions prevailed over the weekend and skiers had a great time. Record attendance was noted at Alpine Meadows Saturday when 4,700 enthusiasts skied the packed powder.

96 Nastar races competed Sunday paced by Jorg Dutschke with 31.8 and a handicap of 6, par time was 30.0.

Local skiers winning medals were: Mark Marvin, John Erickson, Wolsi Schaefer, Randy Auston, Jim Hunt winning gold times, Mike Bonnington, Gustin Pratt winning silver, and Wendy Bertrand, Brad Taylor and Bob Lahde, bronze.

The fastest time was 34.19, the slowest 1:21.00.

---

Squaw Valley reported 6,000 skiers swarmed over their slopes Saturday. With college semester break and perfect weather, skiing was the thing last weekend.

---

The first Ken Ross memorial slalom race was held Sunday on two courses, one very tight and the second more open. 70 veteran racers competed in the clear sunny weather on packed powder snow.

Hitched a ride on the Tucker Snocat to the bottom of the course to help with recording the times. Officials at the bottom were in a sheltered spot, but it was cold and our fingers hardly manipulated properly to write or click watches in the 27 degree temperature. Those at the top were suffering in the cold wind that whipped up the fresh powder at times.

Race sponsor Leilani Ross brought lunches for all the race officials, a mighty welcome treat. Fritzie Briner came to watch her husband Bill, Placer County Supervisor, race and volunteered to help record times.

A beautiful memorial plaque will hang in the Skisport Museum at Boreal Ridge with the names of Georgene Bihlman of Bakersfield and B. G. DeHass of China Peak engraved as winners of the first race, having posted the fastest time of the day. They received individual silver trays and holders to keep.

Lt. Ken Ross, killed in Vietnam last May was a dedicated skier and taught at Boreal Ridge. His sister, mother, and family attended the event.

Results: Women, Class I, Joan Williams, 61.05, Class II, Cricket Mackinlay, 59.52, Sally Brew, 59.63, Eddy Ancinas, 73.53, Class II, Georgene Bihlman, 56.56, Diana Cookingham, 69.45, Patricia Redelsperger, 74.28. Men, Class I, Robert Traversaro, 54.37, Rich Svendsen, 59.21, Arthur Becker, 61.73, Class II, Otto Sarlo, 54.16, Martin Sulser, 56.30, Dick Strong, 58.76, Class III, B. G. DeHass, 51.73, Harry Peterson, 57.04, Ken Schillig, 60.02, Class IV, Hal Roberts, 63.79, James Soper, 67.07, E. D. Motley, 68.83; Class V, Frank Hamon, 87165.

Several were disqualified and a few did not finish. The Vets all had a great time and most attended the slalom clinic held on Saturday before the Old Crow Broken Bone party.

The next Veteran race will be the Eugenia Lary memorial slalom at Ski Incline, February 15.

The Bay Area Council race is scheduled for February 7, at Soda Springs.

---

The next Junior Point meet will be held this weekend at Heavenly Valley.

Yosemite Valley has a treat for visitors this season that is rare: free-flowing waterfalls. Both Bridalveil and Yosemite Falls are almost as full as they are in the spring. Vernal and Nevada Falls offers a spectacular sight for hikers and Ribbon Fall near the Ahwahnee Hotel is flowing over the granite wall.

Skiing at Badger Pass has been excellent and ice skating in the valley very good on the new 185 by 80-foot refrigerated rink.

Ski-Bob champ Eric Brenter of Austria will be on hand for the preview opening of the new Mt. Rose Ski Area lodge this weekend. He set the world speed record of 102.8 miles per hour.

We noticed several ski bobbers at Boreal last Sunday. They seem to be having a great time on the little bikes with runners instead of wheels, the rider had small skis on each foot for balance.

Mt. Rose Bids For Ski-Bobs

An invitation to the National Ski-Bob Association to host the World Championship races in March of 1971 has been extended by the Mt. Rose Ski Area in Reno.

Ski-bobing, the newest winter sport, is attracting many supporters and participants because of its ease, safety, thrill, and economy. The Mt. Rose Area is one of the few areas in the West that encourages the sport.

Mt. Rose is competing with many European sites for the races as well as with Vail, Colo. Site selection will be made in Denver in the next few weeks.

Eric Brenter of Austria will be in Reno February 7-8 for the preview opening of the new Mt. Rose Ski Area lodge. Brenter, a former world racing champion, set the present ski-bob speed record of 102.8 miles per hour.

He will be demonstrating his techniques on the proposed World Championship course at Mt. Rose.

Pier Approved For Lakeshore

Sierra Pacific Power Company has received approval from the Placer County Recreation Commission to construct a 700-foot pier at Tahoe City for both public and private use.

The pier, to be fenced similarly to the one at Tahoe City commons, will feature boat rentals and gasoline sales on the public half. The other portion will be used by a private developer.

By ELLEN ATTARDI

Convalescing nicely after major surgery performed last Wednesday at Letterman General Hospital of the Presidio of San Francisco is Hobby Hopkins, son of Harvey and Leah Hopkins of the Highlands.

Hobby was injured in action in Vietnam in January, 1969. He was hospitalized first in a field hospital in Vietnam before being flown to a service hospital in Yokahama, Japan, where he underwent surgery and then was sent to Letterman in San Francisco. Hobby then returned to his home here until he returned to Letterman two weeks ago for his final surgery.

Hobby is now officially retired from the Army and is expected to return to home and world (and golf) here the end of this week.

The first Tahoe City Amateur Bridge Tournament, to be held Feb. 10 through Feb. 15 at Sunnyside Lodge, promises to be a fun affair with many players of varied skills already signed up to participate in the event.

Sponsors Les and Judy Edinburg state that participants will play any three nights of their choice during the scheduled time, with each player playing three rubbers of bridge each night. Players will be numbered by arrival time each night of play and will be assigned partners and opponents by draw, changing partners after each rubber of play.

Preregistration is desirable, but not necessary, and may be made by phoning the Edinburgs at 583-5692. The entry fee for the entire tournament is $1.50 per player.

Handsome trophies will be awarded for first, second, and third high scorers. It is emphasized that the tournament is open to bridge players of all skills, sizes, ages and sex (in fact the rumor is that a group of men are willing to wager that they will take the top places.)

Starting time is set each night for 7 p.m.

Bid Errors Cause Sewer District Formation Delay

The formation of a county sewer assessment district adjacent to the Nevada state line has been delayed by the Placer County Board of Supervisors.

County solons cited possible errors in the two lowest bids for construction of pipelines and facilities within the district as their reason for delaying the project.

Low-bidder on the project, estimated by the county engineer to cost $731,600, was Frontier Construction Co. of Rancho Cordova at $678,859. McKnight Construction Co. of Goleta was the next lowest of the five companies bidding for the contract.

It is hoped that the errors, if any, can be resolved without advertising for new bids, noted a spokesman for North Tahoe Public Utility District, which will finance the new district with assistance from a federal grant and Nevada gambling casinos.

Two property owners protested inclusion in the district, and the supervisors cancelled their assessment unless they request service from the district.

A representative of the Lahontan Water Quality Control Board submitted a statement, which reaffirmed a stand for total exportation of sewage from the Lake Tahoe Basin and pointed out that "anyone asking to be excluded from a district would contribute to the pollution of the basin."

Dentist Gives Advice To Nursery School

Truckee dentist Dr. Robert Affeldt was the guest speaker for the last meeting of the Truckee Parent Cooperative Nursery School. He explained parent's responsibility to children regarding habits that can be harmful to the formation of their teeth. He also suggested that everyone eat raw fruit after meals when they cannot brush. This method is called "Mother Natures' toothbrush" and will help prevent decay.

The nursery school has a few openings at this time and would be glad to have parents visit the class and observe if they are interested in placing their child in nursery school. Class is in session each morning from 9:00 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. Parents should call 587-3164 or 587-3967 for information.

Pacific Telephone Announces Record Spending Budget

Jack Domergue, Pacific Telephone manager for Truckee, recently said the company expects to spend $667,000 in Truckee and North Tahoe for construction projects during 1970.

He said that $406,000 of the total will go toward conduit and poles, $167,000 for telephones and PBX equipment, and $94,000 for central office switching equipment.

Funds for the North Tahoe area projects are included in the record $740 million state - wide 1970 construction budget announced recently by PT&T President Jerome Hull.

Pacific Telephone's Northern Counties Area will receive an estimated $82.4 million for projects in 178 telephone exchanges in the 35-county area. PT&T's Northern Counties Area extends from the Oregon border to south of Madera, and from the Pacific Ocean (not including the San Francisco Bay Area) to the Nevada border.

Domergue said the emphasis of the 1970 construction budget will be on projects necessary to keep pace with the growing demand for communications services throughout the Northern Counties Area.

He noted that the number of telephones in the 35-county area jumped from 767,589 in 1960 to more than 1,375,300 at present. By 1980 this figure is expected to climb to approximately 2,087,187.

January Weather Summary

Snowfall was abnormally low and precipitation unusually high for the month of January in the lower altitudes of the Tahoe Basin, Professor John James, area climatologist, reported today.

Below the 7,000-foot level, snowfall for the month was more than 40 per cent below normal. Snow levels at higher elevations were on a par with previous averages for January.

Wettest spot in the basin was Rubicon Bay with 20.91 inches of rain and melted snow for January and a season total of 39.98.

Tahoe City recorded 14.82 inches of precipitation for the month and a season total of 27.89. "This is 155 per cent of the long term normal precipitation," James noted.

Temperatures for January averaged four to six degrees above normal. Tahoe Paradise recorded the lowest temperature of the month with minus nine degrees, while Highlands scored the North Shore high of 48 degrees.

Sunnyside Bridge Tourney

Amateur brige players have been invited to participate in the Tahoe City Amateur Bridge Tournament scheduled Feb. 10 to 15 at Sunnyside Lodge.

Registration chairman Mrs. Judy Edinburg stressed that the competition is open only to amateur players and will be more of a "get-acquainted" session than a proficiency contest.

Participants will play three rubbers each night for three nights with opponents decided by a random drawing.

Trophies will be awarded to first, second and third pace in the tourney. An entrance fee of $1.50 will be charged.

Those desiring to enter should contact Mrs. Edinburg at 583-5692.

Fire Razes Tahoe Building

A two-story frame house in Tahoe Pines was totally destroyed in a pre-dawn blaze last Wednesday morning. The structure was not occupied at the time of the fire.

Chief Al Henry of the Tahoe City Fire Portection District estimated the damage at $10,000.

Control of the 5:15 a.m. blaze was "well underway" when the four units and 29 men from the fire district arrived.

The home, built in the 1930s, was owned by Hampton Roberts of Woodland. Cause of the blaze at the corner of Park and Doe streets is under investigation.

Unsafe Skiers' Road To Improve

The California Highway Commission has approved a $16,000 project to construct a left-turn storage lane on Highway 89 at Alpine Meadows Road, about 3.7 miles north of Tahoe City.

Used extensively by tourists who are unfamiliar with the area, several accidents have occurred at the spot in recent years.

Alpine Meadows Road intersects Highway 89, the only artery connecting Lake Tahoe with Squaw Valley.

Students Ski To Victory Again

Tahoe-Truckee High School piled up 370.5 points in the 44-gate slalom of the California-Nevada Interscholastic Ski Federation meet and walked away with the top honors.

Perfect conditions greeted the 160 entrants for the meet at Tahoe Ski Bowl in Homewood.

Second place went to Lee Vining with 335.5 points, followed by Skyline of Oakland, 314; Portola, 277; El Dorado, 273.5; Ponderosa, 229; Redwood of Redwood City, 171; Tahoe Sierra, 151; and Placer, 146.

Local Artists Display Works

Mrs. Sue Reams and Mrs. Zeph Rose, both of Truckee, are now exhibiting their original paintings at Tahoe Forest Hospital, according to Mrs. Beyer, chairman of the hospital auxiliary's revolving art show.

The oil and water-color landscapes depict Donner Lake, Truckee mill, Highlands Forest, and Squaw Peak.

Other local artists interested in displaying their work at the hospital should contact Mrs. Beyer at 426-3565.

Snowball Alerts Motorist Who Finds Hit-Run Victim

A snowball hitting his moving car last week on Tuesday evening caused motorist Lloyd Cook to stop, get out of his car and investigate.

He found Steven Cook, 17, lying severely injured in a snowbank along the roadway in the 800 block on Tanager. The injured youth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Al Cook, threw the snowball to attract attention.

Steve, popular Incline High School football and basketball teams' manager, is reported progressing well this week at Washoe Medical Center where he was taken for treatment. He underwent surgery for a compound fracture of the right leg.

Deputy Howard of the Incline Sheriff's Substation, who responded to Lloyd Cook's call, questioned Steve about the accident while awaiting an ambulance.

Steve said a red truck, parked with its motor running at Holligans Bar at Tanager and Country Club when he walked by, had started down the street without lights, then its lights came on and "that's all I remember," Steve said.

Deputy Howard, joined by Deputy Stein, continued the investigation. At 9 p.m. the same evening, they arrested Jerry B. Baldwin at his apartment. He was taken to the Incline Substation where he was booked on suspicion of hit and run. His red truck was impounded.

Baldwin, who admitted to driving down Tanager about the time of the accident, denied that his car had struck anything. However, he said a dent officers found in the hood of the car was not there when he left his job at four that afternoon.

Baldwin was subsequently released on bail. Investigation of the accident is continuing.

ALL-GIRL PATROL - An all-girl ski patrol training program is underway at Ski Incline and "all my girls are doing a beautiful job," says John Poohachoff, right, ski patrol leaders. He is shown with John Szlavik, director of recreation for Incline Village, Inc. and four of the eight patrol members, from left, Andrea Phillips, Lynn Hefferman, Debra Hancock and Gail Michael. This is the second year for the girls who have taken standard and advanced first aid and have also passed a few of the toboggan tests. They assist the professional patrol who are members of the National Ski Patrol System. "Guest skiers bring in good reports on the girls, remarking on their courtesy and helpfulness," Poohachoff said. He said when the girls complete this program, they will be qualified to patrol any slopes which recognize the national Ski Patrol System. Other members of the all-girl patrol are Vicki Mallahagan, Lynn Scott and Elaine Bannister. - Sun Photo

THEY 'TALK' HER DOWN - Debbie Willard, 19, right, says she's just a beginner, but Don Dougherty of the Incline Ski Patrol maintains she's a most unusual and apt beginner. Why? Because Debbie is blind. She skis by having a companion "talk her down" the ski slopes. Debbie recently spent a weekend at Ski Incline with friends. She is a freshman at College of Holy Names in Oakland, has studied in Spain and Mexico and wants to teach Spanish - after she becomes proficient at skiing, that is.

Club To Meet

Republican Women's Club will meet Tuesday, Feb. 20, 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Larry Bub.

This will be the first meeting for new officers installed recently at Crystal Bay Club.

New Fire Alarm System By July

"This new alarm system not only speeds up receiving the alarms at the two fire stations, but it streamlines handling the calls so we can respond much faster and more efficiently," said Incline and Crystal Bay Fire Chief Jack Kissinger.

The chief was announcing the forthcoming installation this spring of a new fire alarm system and air horn. The air horn will alert volunteers.

Kissinger said the North Lake Tahoe Fire Protection District Board of Directors accepted the bid of Herman-Oliver of Palo Alto to install the system and horn at a cost of $48,007.00. It is slated to be in operation by July 1.

"This system is completely radio controlled taking just three seconds from the first alarm box to the central station," the chief said.

The system will be centralized at the Incline Fire Station. The first six public alarm boxes will be located near the high school, grammar school, at Lakeview Shopping Center, at Country Club and Lakeshore drives, at Mount Rose Road and Lakeshore and in the casino area at Crystal Bay.

Kissinger said the alarm boxes, when rung, automatically punch into the Incline station where the operator then pulls a card for that box number. The card shows the equipment needed to respond to the call in the area covered by the alarm box.

At the time that the alarm is rung, the air horn is activated and codes out the box number. Thus volunteers will be immediately alerted and can go directly to the fire location to meet the fire equipment.

"Each box also automatically checks itself every day," said Kissinger. "It rings itself into the station to show that it is in operation and to show whether its battery is low or up to par.

"Since this is a radio operation, we ran very comprehensive test to see if there were any 'blind spots' in radio reception in the area," Kissinger continued.

"There were none. It worked perfectly."

The chief noted that the alram system will be available to all places of public assembly whose owners want to tie into the fire district system at their own expense. In such places the fire alarm will ring directly into the station.

"As it is now for instance in those places that have fire sprinklers, a sprinkler head can go off and if no one hears the alarm bell which is usually mounted on the building, it can go on until discovered or if there is really a fire, it could demolish the building before we receive a call.

Kissinger said also that by the time the new system is installed the district's new snorkel truck is expected to be on hand. This special piece of equipment which takes a year to build and is now being assembled, will respond to all public building fire alarms.

The chief said two large public gathering places have already indicated they will hook up immediately to the new system. He said other localities having the system and gratified with its operation are Citrus Heights, Hayward, Escondido and Culver City among others.

In concluding his announcement, Kissinger said eight more boxes are budgeted for 1970-71 and five to seven boxes will be budgeted each year thereafter.

In 1963 Chief Kissinger started a 10-year capitol improvement program.

"With the purchase of this new alarm system, we're right on schedule with the program," The Chief concluded.

Man Observed Taking Skis

ADDITION NEEDED SOON? - Carl Shaff, who last week announced his resignation as principal of Incline High School but will retain the post of principal of Incline grade school, points to artists drawing showing high school with an addition. Shaff maintains Incline area growth and school enrollment figures indicate the addition could be needed within the next year. - Sun Photo

The Time Has Arrived For Two Principals

"The time has come for each school to have its own principal," said Carl Shaff last week in announcing his resignation as principal of Incline High School. He spoke at a luncheon meeting of the Boosters' Club held at the Crystal Bay Club.

Shaff has been principal of both Incline schools since the opening of the high school. He will retain his post at the elementary school. His resignation will become effective in June.

The administrator cited increased school attendance and growth of the area as the key reason for his move. He said also duties were keeping him "on the go" practically every night, separating him from his family.

"Our schools could be beyond their capacity by this time next year," Shaff warned noting two new hotels are slated for completion within the year in the Crystal Bay-Incline area.

"Families of new employes could boost attendance past our present 1,220 student capacity."

The administrator suggested an expansion program should be planned and set in motion immediately as he foresees both schools bursting at their seams by 1972.

Shaff opened the Incline Village elementary school in 1962 with 47 students and three teachers. This monthly enrollment at both schools was 708 students with 404 in the elementary grades and 304 in the junior and senior high grades.

The high school, now in its second year, has a 500 student capacity but only new classrooms are for expansion. The gym, library and other core facilities have been completed for an ultimate capacity of 1,500 students as shown in the facility's master plan.

The administrator said he expects some 500 high school students next year. He feels the solution to the Incline school problem is to complete the addition to the high school as already drawn up in its master plan.

Need Markers

Lt. Jesse Ramsey, officer in charge at the Washoe County Sheriff's Incline Substation, has requested of Sheriff C. W. "Bud Young that the California-Nevada boundary line be "established and permanently marked . . . in such a way as to be visible to the naked eye."

Lt. Ramsey noted the need for a visible marker was great especially in the Cal Neva Lodge area where the parking lot and part of the lodge is in California.

The Incline officer futher noted the need because of liability law officers of one state persue law enforcement duties when in another state.

Ramsey said also, establishment of the boundary could "possibly reduce the state and county crime rates."

New Duties

Sandra White has assumed duties as public relations consultant on the Staff of Boise Cascade Recreational Properties, Inc. She will be handling activities at Ski Incline, Incline Bowl, the Chataux and both golf courses.

Miss White most recently spent three years in Paris where she did publicity and script writing on a freelance basis for motion picture studios. A native of New York City she attended school there and in Florence, Italy.

While in Italy Miss White worked as a model and as assistant to dress designer Emilio Pucci. In New York she experience includes assistant editorship at Vogue Magazine and work in the rehearsal department of the Metropolitan Opera Association.

Fail To Break Losing Streak

Dropping a 60-42 home court contest to Gabbs Friday night, Incline's Highlander varsity traveled to Coleville Saturday and failed to break out of the losing column as the Wolves loped away with a 64-43 Western "A" League victory.

Larry Hume hit a game-high total of 12 points for the Highlanders, but was matched by the performance of Coleville's Ken Giorgi, who teamed with the 10-point efforts of Harmon and Grant to lead the Wolves to a 15-13 halftime lead and a 45-26 spread at the half.

Friday night, Gabbs got back on the winning rack after two one-point losses last weekend as Dwayne Zaval and Ken Belleville combined for 27 points to lead the former front-runners past the Highlanders.

Bill Schwab was high for the Incline cagers with 11 points.

The Highlander junior varsity lost to undefeated Coleville, 55-43.

Drysdale Enters Race

Don Drysdale, one of the all-time great Los Angeles Dodger pitchers, has officially entered the $50,000. King's Castle Snowmobile Grand Prix, Feb. 26 through March 1, 1970, it was announced today.

Drysdale, who was forced to retire from baseball because of an injury to his throwing arm mid-way through the 1969 season, will compete on an Arctic Cat Snowmobile in the VIP Celebrity Race.

One of the records he is most proud of is the major league record of seven home runs by a pitcher in a single season which he set in 1958 and in 1965.

Drysdale joins a growing list of celebrities and racers entering the World's Richest Snowmobile Race. Roger Ward, two-time Indy "500" winner; Mel Larson, Nascar stock car driver; Duane Eck, snowmobile speed record holder; Woodie Held, former Baltimore Oriole outfielder and Roger Jannson, world's snowmobile champion, have officially entered.

Sportswriters Honor Laxalt, Susie Maxwell

Incline golfers Susie Maxwell Berning who makes her home in Crystal Bay, and Nevada Gov. Paul Laxalt will be honored by the Sierra Nevada Sportswriters and Broadcasters Association banquet Feb. 22 at the Sparks Nugget Convention Center.

Miss Berning, 1968 U. S. Women's Open golf champion, has been named by the association as Nevada's Athlete of the Year for 1969. It is the first time in the 15 year history of the award that a woman has been given the honor.

In 1969 the golfer won two major tournaments on the women's professional golf circuit and was among the leading money winners. She is married to Dale Berning, real estate developer.

Gov. Laxalt was named by the association as "Sportsman of the Year for his dedication to the improvement of sports programs throughout Nevada. He supported fund raising projects for university sports that brought $85,000 for the University of Nevada Southern Rebels in Las Vegas and $50,000 for the U of N Reno Wolf Pack.

Believing strong athletic programs are good for student morale on pre-college level, too, the governor has enlisted Eddie LeBaron and Jackie Jensen to emphasize youth involvement in sports; has pushed the statewide junior tennis program putting up the Governor's Cup for state tourney winners; supported improvement of Carson City's junior recreation ski program and Ski Reno; and has been instrumental in obtaining United Air Lines' Nationwide commercial on Reno-Lake Tahoe area skiing.

Also to be honored at the dinner is the "Coach of the Year" Mike Lommori who piloted Yerington High School's football team to a state title.

The dinner will be open to the public. Guest speaker will be Coach John Madden of the Oakland Raiders. Tickets are availabe from association members and at the Reno YMCA. No host cocktails at 6 o'clock will precede the 7 p.m. banquet.

EARTH SCIENCE - Sheryl Keeler measures the length of water going up into the soil (capillary action) while Chris Louis, right, and standing, instructor John Marean and Karen Hallgren, watch. The students are "investigating the earth" with the help of Marean's new textbook, foreground, "Earth Science - A Laboratory Approach." The book was just released the first of this year and was written by Marean, with Dudley Cate and Ed Coppin. Cate is a former teacher and Fred Traner and Dudley is science department chairman at Proctor Hug, both Reno. Marean said the textbook is especially fine for youngsters who can display their knowledge and understanding by "doing" rather than through communication. "We can judge their ability by the way they go about solving a problem," said Marean. The Incline High teacher who heads the math department said also he has just completed the manuscript for a "Life Science" textbook. - Sun Photo

Study Reveals Hospital Need

A feasibility study has revealed that the time has arrived to build a 50-bed hospital at Incline Village, Tom Cornforth, president of the Incline Boosters Club, reported Tuesday.

Cornforth explained that Dr. Wyane Heath, representing BHT & Associates of San Diego had appeared before the boosters last weekend to reveal that negotiations with the Boise Cascade Corporation had been in process for the past 30 days for a site. A projected completion of the hospital is one year to 18 months away, according to Cornforth.

"The plan is to overbuild the project in anticipation of growth," Cornforth said. "The San Diego group has been overwhelmed by the local support shown through the Boosters Club."

The plan will be to divide the beds between acute and convalescent cases. It will be a full service hospital, with 24-hour emergency service, X-ray and pathology facilities, plus provision for minor surgery. The building will include office space for medical and dental facilities. A pharmacy will be provided for a suitable tenant.

"This group will build the hospital and is already negotiating with a strong national firm that provides hospital operating personnel. It will be a turn key operation, leased to the operators, who are specialists in the field.

"Dr. Heath said the medical care will be superior to, and at less cost then any publicly operated or so-called non-profit hospital," Cornforth said.

Cornforth emphasised that local participation in the venture has not been frozen out, but that they were not looking for hospital promoters. He also said the new facility was not being set up to compete with the but to provide a ready made facility for their use.

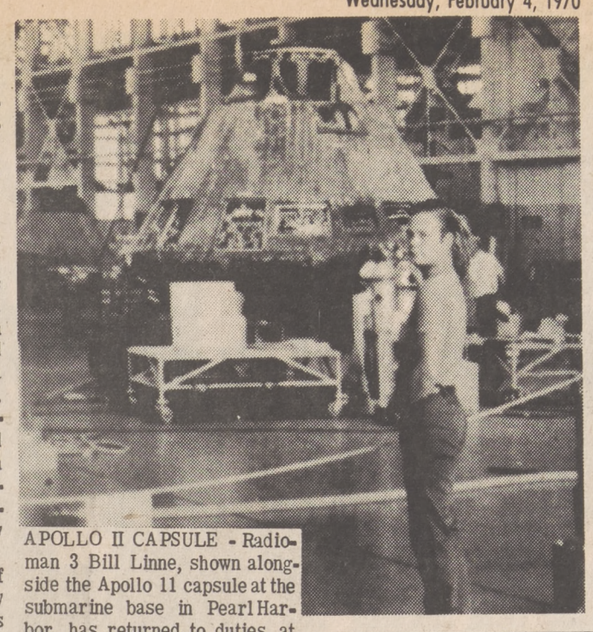
Accompanying Cathy and Jay on the trip was Jay's Persian cat, Sam, his main man. Disneyland, Knott's Berry Farm, Laguna Beach and the usual sightseers haunts were visited for a fun time



APOLLO II CAPSULE - Radioman 3 Bill Linne, shown alongside the Apollo 11 capsule at the submarine base in Pearl Harbor, has returned to duties at Honolulu after spending the holidays at Incline with his parents, William "Lefty" and Barbara Linne. The picture was taken just after its recovery from the ocean after man's first step on the moon. Bill is assigned to the Gold Crew of the nuclear submarine USS M. G. Vallejo. He was home on rest and recuperation (R&R) following his last duty of 68 days underwater in the Pacific.

Ebright To Speak

Don Ebright, who makes a business of going to places where news is made, will be guest speaker Wednesday, Feb. 11, at the Reno Executives Club meeting. The meeting will follow a 7 p.m. dinner at the Sparks Nugget Convention Center.

"Ring Around Red China" will be the title of Ebright's talk. Reputed to be one of the few who knows what he is talking about when he discusses Red China, its plans and where it is headed, the speaker travels frequently and widely.

Story Hour At Library

Beginning Wednesdays Feb. 18 there will be a "Very Young Story Time" for three-through six-year-olds at Incline Branch Library.

Stories, songs, rhythms, and fingerplays will make up the half hour program which will begin at 10:30 a.m. the group will be limited to 10 children, and advance registration is required. There is no charge for the series of six story times, to be conducted by Branch Librarian Audry Anderson.

A large, low, round table is needed, and information leading to a loan or gift of such a table will be most welcome.

Young Incline Skiers Qualify

The Incline Ski Club Far West Race Team coached by Craig Beck entered four children in its "first ever" Far West race, the Mammoth Mountain Downhill for Class IV and V (12 years and under) Sunday, Feb. 1.

The team, composed of Jay Steinmeyer, Kim Troyan, Heidi Kuckhoff and Christine Codd, surprised with all four children easily qualifying for a varsity rating. Jay Steinmeyer was outstanding in his first downhill race with a 14th place in an experienced field of 50 racers.

Next week the IV's and V's will race in a slalom at Echo Summit.

BANK OF AMERICA RAISES THE RATES FOR SAVERS

Personal Choice savings plans now offer more for your money. One: you have many plans to choose from. And two: we've raised the interest rates.

Of course, we could mention a third: your savings enjoy the protection of the world's largest bank. So let your money go to work at Bank of America. The pay is good.

4½% Regular Savings
Starting February 1st, your interest will be increased to 4½% computed daily and compounded quarterly. Deposits made by the tenth of each quarter earn interest from the first. Your funds are immediately available. You can put money in. Take it out. Any time, any amount.

5% Investors Passbook
This is the passbook account that pays you more for leaving your money with us for at least 90 days. The 5% interest is compounded quarterly. You can withdraw interest during the first 10 days of any calendar quarter.

You can also withdraw principal at that time, providing it's been on deposit a full calendar quarter. A 90-day written notice will also release funds. $500 opens an account. Additional deposits are made in $100 amounts or more.

5¾% Certificates of Deposit
We've lowered the entrance requirements and raised the rate from 5% on maturities of one year or longer. These Certificates are issued for $500 or more. Two year Certificates now earn 5¾%.

Let us safeguard your money for one year, and we'll pay you 5½% quarterly. These new rates are effective immediately.

7½% Certificates of Deposit
Large deposits—$100,000 or more—now earn 7½% if left with us a year. The interest rates on these Certificates range from 6¼% to 7½% depending on their maturity. These represent an increase of ¾% to 1¼% over previous rates.

Whatever Personal Choice Savings plan you choose, Bank of America has your best interest in mind.

High Altitude Gardening

By Ronald H. Gustafson
Washoe County Extension Horticulturist

The small sizes and graceful shapes of bonsai suggest mystery. However, interested gardeners are finding that there is nothing mysterious in their culture, even though some phases of it are a bit exacting. The bonsai fancier, above all else, must be a patient gardener, for it takes time to train the little trees and shrubs into the artistic shapes that are so admired.

In Japan, many of the bonsai have been in the same family for several generations – sometimes as long as 300 years! Age alone is not a criterion for judging bonsai, however, the American fancier is able to develop an attractive potted tree in a suitably artistic trunk and branch structure. Often these "misshapen" plants cost less than perfect specimens, which would not be as suitable for bonsai.

A porus soil mixture that drains well is imperative, as trees will not abide wet feet. A mixture of clay, sand, and humus is usually used, in varying proportions depending upon the needs of the tree variety. One part of each is a good rule-of thumb, with more sand added for pines, more humus for maples and azaleas. Soil should be well-screened to remove pebbles, and should be worked in well around roots while still dry. A chopstick or pencil is a good tool for this.

After potting and watering, study the branch structure carefully and prune away al except the key branches, leaving only those essential to the character of the tree. Then additional pruning will be necessary as undesirable shoots develop. In bonsai language, pruning usually means disbudding and pinching, rather than making large cuts. Large cuts should be made only at the very beginning of the training. One very important feature in the appearance of any well-kept bonsai is the absence of any obvious pruning cuts. Large cuts should always be made flush; pinching and disbudding should be done carefully to avoid the "chopped-off" look.

Branches or supple trunks can be wired or tied into the desired shape. Be sure to remove wire (it can be replaced if necessary) about every six months to prevent permanent damage to the bark.

Bonsai must be kept moist, which usually means daily watering in hot or windy weather. Tiny pots need even closer attention as they dry out more quickly. An overhead sprinkling once a day is beneficial, too.

Bonsai are not house plants, despite their size. They may be displayed inside for a few days at a time, then should be returned to the outdoors. Unless they are tropical plants, they require the same seasonal changes as large trees to re-bark, or some other insulating material to help prevent pot breaking from the freezing and thawing action of the weather. The plants themselves prefer a reasonably protected area. And don't forget to water them occasionally during the cold weather, unless rain or snow has been sufficient to keep them moist.

In summer in this area they like partial shade, and especially protection from the hot noonday and afternoon sun. If possible, they should be protected from the worst of the wind, as well. A lath house, or a lath "awning," is ideal.

Once you have tried bonsai, you will find this a fascinating hobby.

World Fashion—

Get In Shape For Spring Of 1970

By BETTE KNIGHT

SAN FRANCISCO - We're up to the '70s now and fashion will have to be ready to move swiftly.

What will be the fashion shape of the '70s?

Designer thoughts are at least for the first year: The mood is sketch-soft, no hard closings, few buttons, open coats, a sensation of body freedom.

Designer desires? The woman's preparation: Twenty push-ups each morning, a diet suited to skinny clothes, legs in shape to take any hem length, hair bouncy-soft - in short, a natural, easy, all together look that swings with change.

The designers preparation? Keep the clothes comfortable, leave enough room at the top and plenty of room at the hem, use modern fabrics that adapt to changing life styles, put lots of love in each design.

Designer colors and silhouettes? Pottery colors - clay, terra-cotta, gold nuggets; early bloom colors - pinks, green, golds, blues, all on beds of soft moss; chemise shape from a shoulder seam in dresses, jackets, and coats; the circular skirt that swings from three levels - bust, waist, and high hip.

The total message for spring, 1970, is get ready, get set, go. Stay loose, stay free, in mind, body, and fashion.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: A free copy of Bette Knight's recent book on fashions, "Both Sexes Should Know," is available at the Tahoe Daily Tribune, South Lake Tahoe and Sierra Sun, Truckee.)

Cut In Classes

WAUKESHA, Wis. (AP) — A 4 1/2-day school week has been proposed by Waukesha teachers.

Grade school children would have a half day holiday on Monday mornings and teachers would use the period to prepare for the week's instructions.

A decision on the suggestion will be made by the school board.

People Own More Than Ever Before

WASHINGTON, D. C. - Almost one out of every three American households are enjoying color television sets. This reflects a 23.9 per cent increase from a year earlier. Apparently, many of those who previously had purchased black and white sets are now purchasing color sets. The percentage of black and white sets in American households is gradually declining.

A monthly newsletter on consumer behavior published by the National Consumer Finance Association says this is part of a trend which shows that household ownership of durable goods is on the rise. Automobile ownership was up 4.0 million in July 1969. The number of cars owned by households was 69.9 million. This increase is partially due to multiple car ownership.

Dishwasher and clothes dryer ownership also increased from July 1968 to July 1969.

With a home, a couple of cars, a color TV set, a clothes dryer and a dishwasher, it would seem the John Q. Public is well on his way to attaining the highest level of affluency in history.

Avenues Available To Those Wanting To Avoid Draft

By JOHN BREWER
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES - Want to beat the draft?

It's easy to get help. Scores of attorneys have become specialists in draft law. Volunteer draft counselors have set up shop in some areas. And colleges and universities now have draft advisors.

Some of the experts work to keep young men out of uniform because they feel the draft is unjust or believe draft boards can be callous and discriminatory - and sometime ignorant - of the law.

Their price? Draft counselors ask for only a handshake. Attorneys usually charge only a minimal fee.

Their methods? Nothing illegal. They simply exploit the draft's many exemptions and draft board errors.

"We counsel about 40 persons a day," says Mike Howard, 23, serving with Los Angeles Draft Help, whose offices are located around the corner from the Los Angeles Armed Forces Induction Center.

"If a guy hasn't already received his induction notice we can probably find a way for him to get out. It's not very hard."

Los Angeles attorney William Smith, 36, an ex-Air Force captain, claims if a youth and his parents can afford $250 a year, "I can give them 99.9 per cent assurance he won't be drafted."

"I won't do anything illegal," Smith says. "That is the tremendous inequity of the system."

When a youth first comes to them, counselors and lawyers thoroughly question him to determine whether he has even the remotest right to a deferment.

"Most young men usually don't know of all the possibilities," explains the Rev. David Barnes, a Presbyterian minister who counsels in the suburban Pomona-Claremont area.

In addition to deferments granted undergraduate and graduate students, "there are hardship deferments if you're the sole support of your family, occupational deferments for certain skilled trades such as brick laying or glass cutting and deferments for farmers who can prove they cannot be replaced in their work," The Rev. Mr. Barnes says.

Another widely used out is for medical reasons.

Draft counseling centers usually have a list of doctors "sympathetic" to youths trying to avoid military service.

"They don't do anything unethical," says Barnes. "They just know what to look for and how to write it up so a man can qualify for a 4-F (ineligible for military service).

"In my experience I've found that a lot of men have something wrong with them that legitimately disqualifies them for the draft-back problems, allergies, flat feet, stomach trouble, hearing or vision problems."

The clergyman says that dental troubles also can disqualify a potential draftee.

"Again, I've found most persons have something wrong with their teeth, usually requiring some kind of braces," he says. "And the Army won't take you if you have braces."

Draft lawyers and counselors disclaim any intention of urging persons to evade the draft, a federal crime that carries a five year sentence.

"You don't have to go running off to Canada to escape the draft," says Howard.

"If you plan right you can beat the system with very little trouble."

Guild Meets To Plan Two Events

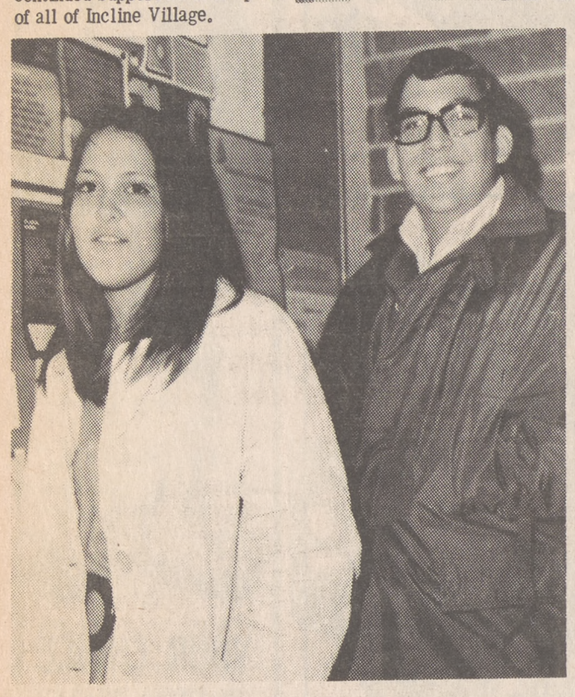
St. Francis of Assisi Guild met at the home of Mrs. William P. Kisiluk on Jan. 20, more than 20 members were in attendance.

Two events are being planned by the Guild. First is a Hot Food Sale on Feb. 21 at Eagle Thrifty.

Guild members are planning to bring hot dishes for sale to skiers.

The second function will be the Fifth Annual St. Patrick's Day Party to be held at the Chataux Sat. March 14. Chairman for this affair is Jo Ann Rowe. The guild look forward to the St. Patricks Day affair and to the continued support as in the past of all of Incline Village.

INSTALL OFFICERS - Women's Club of North Lake Tahoe last week installed new officers at a luncheon meeting held at Cal Neva Lodge. They are, from left, Mildred Hancock, treasurer; Fay Horsely, secretary; Dotty Hart, vice president and Bette Hitchcock, president. Date for the group's annual "Hat Party" was announced for March 30 and annual reports were given. Outgoing officers were Mary Kravchonok, president; Cleo Tsapralis, vice president; Barbara Kindred, secretary; Gloria Negroni, treasurer. - John Corbett-Cal Neva Photo



THEY LIKE! - Roseana Hermano of Sao Paulo, Brazil and Eduardo Molina of Nicaragua look over the bulletin board between classes at Incline High School. The two foreign exchange students say they like going to school here "very much." Roseana is living with Nancy Busch and Eduardo, who leaves to return to his home this week, has been a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Smith. Both speak English now in spite of the fact that neither one could speak it upon arrival. Eduwardo is happy to have learned typing and for the opportunity to learn to ski. Roseana noted that in her country "school work is harder" and the teachers move throughout the school where here, the students move from class to class. Roseana will stay through this month. - Sun Photo

'No Comment' On Highrise

Nathan Jacobson, president, and Lewis Kurtz, exeuctive vice president of Kings Castle Hotel and Casino said Monday they have no comment at this time on a proposed new condominium complex on hotel property at Incline.

Plans for the condominium were revealed when hotel representatives asked to appear before the Regional Planning Commission this week to seek approval of tentative plans for the new development. If approved it will be called King's Manor Condominiums.

The tentative plans call for two 10-story towers containing 80 apartments each to be built between the shoreline and Lakeshore Boulevard. This is directly across the street from the present Kings Castle Hotel.

Don Bayer of the Regional Planning Commission staff said the plans at present call for retention of the old Kings Castle Casino building for private recreational facilities. He said the development also contains a swimming pool and tennis courts.

Bayer said property involved is already properly zoned for the development. Final approval of the tentative subdivision plat outlining development plans must come from the Washoe County Commission.

Architect for the project is Martin Stern Jr., who was also the architect for Harrah's Reno hotel.

Gaming Tax Take Hiked

CARSON CITY (AP) - Nevada's legal gambling industry paid taxes totalling $48.9 million in the last fiscal year, up $3.3 million over the preceding year, the State Gaming Commission reported.

Edward Bowers, commission secretary, said the taxes represent a 48 per cent increase in three years over the $33.1 million paid by gamblers in fiscal 1966. The commission's fiscal years end June 30.

The state collected $33.3 million of the taxes.

Separation Suit

Tahoe National Bank announces two new assets.

Don Bickle. And 300 million dollars.

Lake Tahoe has just one bank of its very own. It ought to be a good one.

So we've added two great assets to help us bring Lake Tahoe the finest banking service it's ever known.

First, we're proud to announce the appointment of Donald K. Bickle as president of the bank. The many Lake Tahoe residents who remember Mr. Bickle as our vice-president in 1964 and 1965 will be pleased to see his bright and progressive policies at work here.

You can see the difference already. There's a new look. New efficiency. And some of the nation's most exciting new banking services will be announced in the next several weeks.

Second, Tahoe National is pleased to announce our affiliation with the Central Banking System. The association will permit us to offer a number of sophisticated banking services normally beyond the scope of a local bank, particularly in the area of commercial banking. Including access to Central Banking System's $300,000,000 in assets, when required.

That's a lot of assets for one friendly, little bank.

Stop in at our office in the Crescent V Shopping Center or our Tahoe Valley office. See what a difference our new assets have made already.

Chic, Cool Joanna Barnes Loses Her Sophistication

Joanna Barnes, usually the epitome of chic sophistication, cowered disheveled behind a board while a chimp pelted her with toy blocks.

This was only the beginning.

Guesting in "The Scientific Approach" segment of the ABC Television Network's "Nanny and the Professor," starring Juliet Mills and Richard Long, airing Wednesday, Feb. 11, Joanna plays a child psychologist.

As Dr. Lynn Carlisle, she copes with a group of youngsters enrolled in a laboratory project aimed at unlocking their hostilities. The chimp, as scripted, freed all her experimental animals in addition to the block-tossing.

"Fun," gasped Joanna at the end of the scene as she caught her breath and patted her hair into place. Observing that Nanny gets the best of Dr. Carlisle and her scientific methods in the story, she added with humor, "This isn't the first time I've been made a fool of by a member of the Mills family.

Suit Dismissed

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Actress Hedy Lamarr's $5 million suit against a department store over what she said was a false arrest on a charge of shoplifting has been dismissed.

Superior Court Commissioner Gerald Malkan, in dismissing the suit Thursday, said the 55-year-old actress had failed to prosecute the action.

Miss Lamarr, now living in New York City, was arrested on Jan. 27, 1966, and later was acquitted by a jury after she said she was ill and did not intend to leave the store without paying for articles in her shopping bag.

Wardrobe Battle

NBC – TV's "Bracken's World" sports three beautiful co-stars: Laraine Stephens, Linda Harrison and Karen Jensen. "There's no jealously," says Laraine. "Our only battle is racing to the wardrobe department for the best clothes.

About That Tall

Seven – year – old Marc Copage, co-star of NBC–TV's "Julia," spends so much time on the set that he describes everything in terms of the show and its people. Asked how tall his brother was, Marc looked around and said, "Oh, about as tall as Diahann Carroll."

Al Bello — Surrounded By Girls, Girls, Girls

"I never wanted a girlie show, it just happened, it was an accident . . . " That's the word from Al Bello, king of the audience participation "dance-in," currently headlining Sahara - Tahoe'e Juniper Lounge.

The Al Bello Show today is a far cry from The Al Bello Watusi Swim Revue, which took to the stage in 1962 as the first topless lounge show in Nevada. The tale of time between is fascinating and funny, as a bright young drummer with comedic aspirations found himself surrounded by a sea of sequins, spangles and girls, girls, girls.

It all started one night when Al got a call to organize a trio, with himself as the drummer, and take a show featuring four topless watusi dancers into a Reno nightspot. Al's protests got no sympathy. He was instantly billed as emcee and the show went on with some 20 minutes of rehearsal behind it.

"It was terrible . . . really awful," recalls Al, who had to watch the entire spectacle from behind a set of drums. "I kept wishing they'd turn the lights down, or off, or something. . .it was bad. Then all of a sudden I just stopped the music and started talking. . . It wasn't planned - that show wasn't planned-I just started cracking jokes and the people laughed. After a few minutes the girls started dancing again and I invited the men onstage to dance with them. We were inundated. They flooded the stage. That was it."

And away it went, through some 300 different dancers. Anyone who has employed that many females in that length of time is bound to have had some amusing experiences. Al has had more than his share.

"Once I auditioned a beautiful girl for the show. She was gorgeous. I asked her to dance and she really moved. She was just what I'd been looking for, and first show she stood the whole house on its ear. Second show was a bit different. Things started out great, but about halfway through her husband came onstage and dragged her off by the hair. Seems she'd run off and left him with three kids . . . I started screening dancers more carefully after that."

"Sometimes, though it was hard to take time to screen the girls. I remember one night. I had a four girl line down in Reno and we were set to do a show that evening. Five minutes before curtain I found there were no girls. Some club in San Francisco had offered them $10-15 more a week and the whole bunch of them had split. The next night, at 7 o'clock I had another full line and the show went on."

"Getting girls in the early days was pretty haphazard. I'd find them on the street, in dime stores, waiting tables . . . primarily, I looked for pretty girls. If they could move even a little, I could teach them to dance."

Today, the Al Bello Show boasts a bevy of international beauties, one of whom is a former Miss Finland and runner-up in the Miss World Contest. Many have won beauty and talent competitions, and all have a girl-next-door freshness that sets the show apart from all imitations.

There are nine girls in the show, ("nine girls, I still don't know what I'm doing with all these girls. . . I wanted to be a comedian. . .") four dance, four make up a gorgeous rock band.

"Twiggy," a fairly recent addition to the Bello crew, is the comedy queen. Tanya Orr, age 22, 5-8, 200 pounds, joined the show after literally bounding out of the audience.

Bello's format calls for members of the audience to come onstage and join his mini-clad lovelies in a quick frug. Men and women are welcome, and as Al puts it: "Sometimes it is simply unbelievable."

"Anyway, we were doing a show and I spotted this great big girl in the house. She weighed about 230 pounds at the time, and was impossible to miss. She came onstage and offered to dance. I was stunned - stopped cold - it was so far out. She had a perfectly lovely face, and we talked awhile - she was really funny. The audience howled . . . somehow we clicked - she picked up every line. To this day we have never rehearsed.

"So she started to dance . . . That girl could really move! When you get that much woman dancing like that, you've really got something. After it was all over she came up and kissed me. She knocked me flat. Completely covered me. I though my back was broken. It took four fuys from the band to lift her off."

"Twiggy came to the show almost every night for a year. It got so we'd look out and expect to see her there. Her part became part of the show - eventually there was nothing to do but hire her. We were heading out on a road tour, and knew there wasn't much chance of having her turn up in Fort Wayne, Ind.

Al spends very little of his free time with members of his show. Rehearsals are handled by lead girls in the line and in the band. Bello relaxes and stays as far away as possible, resting his mind and relaxes for the critical four-five second periods when he must size up his audience participants while they are enroute to the stage.

"I don't have much trouble with men," he relates, "I can size them up in an instant, just by looking at their eyes. None of them, no matter how drunk, have ever taken a swing at me."

"The problem is the women. What do you do with a perfectly respectable 45-year-old woman who just happens to be smashed and onstage trying to take off all her clothes in front of 200 people? You let her go as far as it's funny, as far as taste allows. . . then somehow you stop her. It isn't always easy."

"The most unlikely people in the world decide to come onstage. Lots of times people will ask before showtime, or they'll send a note asking me to "pick on" someone else - usually a husband or relative. The dancing is unbelievable, and everybody gets a good laugh out of it. For me, the most interesting part is interviewing people. Once they've lowered their inhibitions and come on that stage they'll do almost anything. More than that, they'll say literally anything - - it gets pretty lively."

With that, Al Bello hurried off to unpack a newly-arrived crate of feathers, presumably for the girls' costumes, and prepare himself for another evening of "Heaven knows what."

Dick Contino Emphasizes Vocal Talents

"I'm a singer now - period," says Dick Contino, who will share the headline spot with Ireland's Royal Show Band in Harrah's Stateline Cabaret through Feb. 18.

Contino opens for one week of a three-week schedule.

"Singing - vocal expression - is where entertainment communication is at," adds Contino, a performer who has been acclaimed a virtuoso on the accordion.

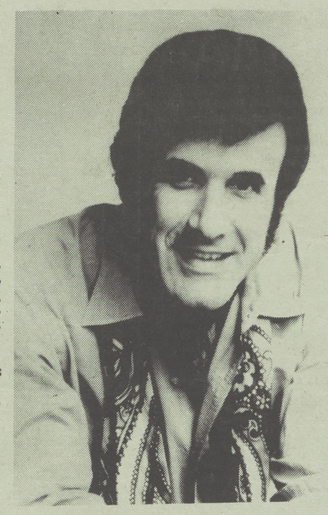
"I want to express myself musically in a way that is relevant to today," maintains Contino, relating a new philosophy gained from much thought and introspection. Times change and so do people.

Contino's career has taken him around the globe, from Vietnam to Tokyo, Singapore, Mexico and even Russia on a tour with Ed Sullivan.

The popular singer has also headlined in supperclubs and hotels throughout the country, such as, the Waldorf-Astoria in New York, the Eden Roc in Miami Beach, Caesar's Palace in Las Vegas and Harrah's in Reno and Lake Tahoe, to name a few.

The Royal Show Band, the first foreign band to headline a lounge in the Lake Tahoe area, has with its variety of Irish songs and dances, as well as pop and rock numbers.

Opening Feb. 12 for one week along with Contino will be Moses and the Highbrows.



ONE-WEEK STINT-Singer Dick Contino, who is also considered a virtuoso on the accordian, will appear in Harrah's Stateline Cabaret for one week beginning Feb. 12.

Imogene Mimic

If it weren't for Imogene Coca, NBC-TV's Lily Tomlin, new gal on "Rowan and Martin's Laugh-In," might have been an English literature grad of Detroit's Wayne State University. Lily's impersonation of Miss Coca was the "Laugh-In" newcomer's first show business triumph.

SUPPORTING ACT - Comedian Mal Z. Lawrence will entertain along with the Wayne Newton Show Feb. 6-7 in Harrah's South Shore Room.

COMING NEXT - Comic-impressionist Frank Gorshin follows Wayne Newton into Harrah's Tahoe South Shore Room. Gorshin will appear twice nightly Feb. 13-14.

Flight Plans

Peter Ustinov, starring in NBC-TV's "Hallmark Hall of Fame" drama, "A Storm in Summer," to be colorcast Feb. 6, was asked how he planned to keep a crowded list of dates, including an appearance in Paris, Prague, Czechoslovakia and San Antonio, Texas. Said Ustinov, "I plan to fly a Russian plane from Prague to Montreal, transfer to a Havana, Cuba flight, and then hi-jack the plane and defer it to Texas!"

Energetic 5½ Holds Spot In Cabaret

Exhausted, members of the International 5½ dropped down on one knee to rest.

Coats and ties were strewn about the stage.

Played-out lungs labored for air - all in the wake of one of the most explosive hours ever witnessed in Harrah's Stateline Cabaret.

Heavy on the energy and light on the feet, the International 5½ held back nothing opening night Jan. 22.

Bolting nonstop and headlong through song after song, the shattering group made its Tahoe debut a successful one.

"We try to generate excitement, to get the audience grooving with us," explained singer-guitarist Dave Rivera, the leader of the group, following their strenous opening night performance.

"Everything we do is a group effort. We continually improve our show. Each man learns from the other," added Rivera.

The International 5½ is a well-dressed, well-rehearsed act with all the sounds and actions of the Sixties.

All songs are done with hard-hitting voices and high-stepping choreography.

The group blasted through "Spinning Wheel" opening night, employing it early in its act. The group's interpretation was lively and imaginative.

Frankie Ramos, who also plays tenor sax, put his powerful voice to work during "Chain, Chain, Chain." Ramos and Paul Cisnero later got together for "Those Summer Days."

Noted Ancestor

William Windom, the "Thurberesque" star of NBC–TV's "My World and Welcome to It," claims an illustrious ancestor of the same name who was twice U.S. Secretary of the Treasury and whose picture appeared on two issues of two–dollar bills.

Jan Barker Held Over At Kings Castle

The Jan Barker Trio, two guys and a doll, have been held over at the Kings Castle Hotel and Casino by popular demand.

The sultry sounds of Miss Barker and the capable music accompaniment of Will Newman on bass guitar and George Gold on drums, have proven to be a sneak hit in the popular Lakeside Lounge.

Miss Barker and June Christy have a lot in common. They are both good lookers, tall, blond and have a style of singing that is all their own. Some of Miss Christy's better known songs like "Willow Weep For Me," and "When Sonny Gets Blue" are Jan's favorites.

"We go from the soft ballad, to the blues right through to hard rock, hitting all stages in between," Jan said.

Always popular where ever she played, the pianist, who also plays the organ, has played such popular local spots as the Sahara-Tahoe Hotel Lounge and the Riverside Hotel Lounge in Reno, besides numerous clubs in Northern California.

Her sidekicks are equally well known having groups of their own for many years. Newman played for a number of years in Sacramento and San Francisco while Gold worked the Reno-Tahoe area.

The coming together of the three has jelled beautifully and the music they explode with every night attests to it. And of course, Jan's ability to joke and kid the audience is a welcome change of pace and adds greatly to the entertainment.

The group plays nightly, except Monday, from 8 p.m. 'til 2 a.m. and during their stint handle as many requests as possible.

Painting Pays

A farmer in Arizona recently was paid to have his barn painted because the company of NBC–TV's "Then Came Bronson" needed the barn for a sequence in "The Gleam of the Eagle Mind." The story calls for the figure of a beautiful woman to be painted on the barn. For $1,000, the farmer lent his barn to the show and the paint job. Then the company restored the barn to its former status with another two–coat paint job.

Natural Nurse

Newton Returns For Weekend At Harrah's

Tireless showman Wayne Newton returns to Harrah's Tahoe South Shore Room Feb. 6-7, scoring his second appearance in three months.

The hard-working Newton, a veritable bonanza of song and energy, will present two shows Friday night and three shows Saturday including a 2 a.m. cocktail show.

His Harrah's Tahoe appearance follows by one day the conclusion of a three-week engagement in Harrah's Reno Headliner Room.

Comedian Mal Z. Lawrence and songstress Brenda Byers balance the talent lineup, along with the Brian Farnon Orchestra.

Frank Gorshin, whose all-around talent has evoked high acclaim in motion pictures, television, legitimate theatre, nightclubs and the concert stage, comes to Harrah's Tahoe Feb. 13-14.

Fast-rising singer John Davidson completes the February entertainment slate in the South Shore Room. Davidson enters the room for three days, Feb. 20 - 22, and also Feb. 27 - 28.

Wherever Wayne Newton performs he keeps audiences in a lively state of humor and high spirits with his vigorous, musical show.

Newton communicates with natural charm and elan. The standing ovations he usually receives are genuine and well-deserved.

His song roster last fall included his career launching "Danke Schoen," as well as other familiar Newton standards, among them "Red Roses for a Blue Lady" and "Dreams of the Everyday Housewife."

Newton has sold upwards of 15 million records during his career, which began more than a dozen years ago. Newton is only 27.

Other members in the popular entertainer's songalog last fall included "Little Green Apples," "High Heel Sneakers," "Bill Bailey," "Hawaiian Wedding Song" and "Blowin' in the Wind."

Newton's personal magnetism and stage deportment, coupled with his talent in mastering practically every musical instrument, make him one of the top, versatile performers around today.

In addition to being a top-selling recording artist, Newton has played to full houses all over the world as a stellar supper club performer, appeared on television and recently finished his first motion picture, "80 Steps to Jonah."

Jerry Newton supplies his deft touch to the guitar in support of brother Wayne. He also delights in zapping the singer with quick one-liners.

Tommy Amato will conduct the orchestra with arranger Donald Vincent on the piano.

Lawrence, a comparative newcomer to the nitery circuit, will offer a fresh batch of humor bits as well as a chapter on the current songs. He explores new angles and has some fresh viewpoints in his humor repertoire.

HARRAH'S SHOWMAN - Versatile singer Wayne Newton returns to Harrah's Tahoe South Shore Room this weekend, along with brother Jerry Newton and conductor Tommy Amato. The tireless showman will bring along his long list of standards, among them "Danke Schoen," "Red Roses for a Blue Lady" and "Dreams of the Everyday Housewife."

On The Cover

Sierra Nevada mountains surrounding Lake Tahoe offer a variety of panoramic views of the scenic basin including this one taken last Sunday afternoon from the top of Kingsbury by Tahoe Daily Tribune photographer Bob Patterson.

Miss Byers is the former Miss Pepsi-Cola of 1963. Endowed with fresh, all - American-girl looks, she backs up a good voice with a warm personality and smooth, believable patter.

She also accompanies herself on the guitar on certain numbers, and has little trouble in getting the audience to sing along when called on.

Esquires Move To Tiki Lounge

The Esquires move from the Theatre Lounge at Harvey's Resort Hotel to the Top of the Wheel Tiki Lounge, through Feb. 22.

Their music is a legend. With their brand of show, which includes comedy and song, they display the polish that has established them as one of the leading groups in show business. Whether it be on the Theatre Lounge stage or playing for the dining and dancing feature at the Top of the Wheel, in the Tiki Lounge, the Esquires enjoy a popularity and following seldom afforded but assuredly well deserved.

This versatile group does everything to entertain. Their audience rapport is automatic and powerful.

Starring in the Theatre Lounge at Harvey's Resort Hotel is the Phil Campos-Renee Noel Show through Feb. 26. Renee Noel, the blonde chanteuse, in black and white, fringed in sleeky black party pants, upholstered just right, contrasting against her snow-white skin of peaches and cream complexion, is a real entertainer.

Renee's rendition of "San Francisco" is one of her redeeming numbers. Crooning softly, tenderly at first, then her heart swelling to crescendo heights as louder, louder, loudest, almost to a piercing yell.

Appearing at the Theatre Lounge with the Phil Campos-Renee Show is the lovely and talented Ree Brunell with the Barons, through Feb. 18.

Ree and the Baron's repertoire is endless. The Barons play everything from "McNamara's Band" to "Release Me" with equal skill. Whether it's classic, standard, pop or country Western, Ree and the Barons fill the bill to perfection.

Ree displays an astonishing richness of tone that has made her one of the most popular of feminine singers throughout the West. Superb musical backing, plus the carefree, gay comedy of Ree creates an atmosphere that makes it possible for this charming songstress to hold her audience in the palm of her lovely hands.

Rounding out the entertainment in the Theatre Lounge are Herb Eberle and Jackie Vaughn through Feb. 15. These two instrumentalists and singers are a pleasure to watch and a joy to hear.

Vanda and the Del Mars are in the Theatre Lounge, Feb. 15 through Feb. 23.

POPULAR TRIO - Combine the satin-smooth harmony and instrumental perfection with a touch of comedy and you have the flawless performers known to Harvey's Resort Hotel patrons as the Esquires. They are appearing in the Tiki Lounge at the Top of the Wheel through Feb. 22.

Sammy Davis Jr. Says, Train For Each Role

"An accomplished performer is like an accomplished athlete. The football player wins or loses in practice - come Sunday he plays the game and can play it only once. If he plays well, you know he's done his homework."

Sammy Davis Jr., guest-staring in an episode of the ABC Television Network's "The Mod Squad," made the comparison between performer and athlete when a set observer asked him how he managed to be virtually letter - perfect every time he does a take.

"It's a matter of discipline, concentration and preparation," he continued. "I've never believed in wasting time, mine or anybody else's."

The role he was filming, in "Survival House," which airs Tuesday, Feb. 10 (7:30 - 8:30 PM, PST), is Sammy's second guest appearance on the series. His first role was that of a Catholic priest suspended for his political activities in "Keep the Faith, Baby," which aired last season.

"This episode has important things to say, too," Sammy explained. "It deals with the narcotics problem, and I play an ex-addict. The story shows how drug users can be helped and cured. You know, this drug problem has got to be licked."

Davis thinks of working on "The Mod Squad" as a family relationship - from executive producers Danny Thomas and Aaron Spelling through cast and crew.

"That first 'Mod Squad' was so good for me, I wanted to do another. It couldn't be just any one, but the right one," Sammy said.

'Funny Girl' Showing At Cal-Neva

Just a few short years ago, Barbra Streisand was an ambitious young woman in a fever to become an actress, who daily "made the rounds" on Broadway. Meeting only callous rebuffs from casting agents oblivious to her talent, Barbra "gave up" the theatre. She determined "they" would come to her; she would make it on her own.

Now America's leading female singer and a major star of Broadway and television, Miss Streisand marked her motion picture debut by winning the Academy Award as Best Actress of the Year. She stars with Omar Sharif in the film version of her Broadway hit, "Funny Girl," the William Wyler-Ray Stark production, a Columbia Picture and Rastar Productions presentation in Technicolor and Panavision.

"Funny Girl" is now in general release, at the Celebrity Room Theatre of Cal- Neva Feb. 3 - 10.

Barbra's undeniable talent as a performer originally surfaced in a Greenwich Village nightclub when she won an amateur talent contest which led to a nearby night club booking, the Bon Soir. Barbra sang her heart out there and, within days, hitherto indifferent agents and producers were dropping in to hear this remarkable young Brooklyn girl.

Barbra's first stage appearance was in an off-Broadway revue. It lasted exactly one evening, but it was followed by night spot bookings and the role of Miss Marmelstein, in the musical comedy, "I Can Get It For You Wholesale." Her performance won Barbra the Best Supporting Actress award from the New York Drama Critics, and a Tony nomination.

Barbra's albums for Columbia Records invariably became Gold Albums and her specials on the CBS-TV Network became show business legends. She repeated her spectacular "Funny Girl" success on Broadway in London and, now, she is proving to the world, in the screen version of "Funny Girl," that she is truly a star. By Barbra's definition, "being a star is being a movie star."

Miss Streisand will be soon in "The Owl and The Pussycat," a romantic comedy produced by Ray Stark, producer of "Funny Girl."

'FUNNY GIRL' - Barbra Streisand stars in her Academy Award-winning role of Fanny Brice in the popular musical "Funny Girl" which plays Feb. 4 -10 in the Celebrity Theatre of Cal-Neva. Also starring is Omar Sharif.

Hollywood Is All Over Map, Says Star Farley Granger

Farley Granger believes the Hollywood that discovered him when he was 17 years old has disappeared from the cultural scene.

"There's no such place as Hollywood any more," says the versatile actor, who is one of the stars of "The Day Before Sunday," presentation of "CBS Playhouse" to be broadcast in color Tuesday, Feb. 10 on the CBS Television Network. "The whole world has become a backdrop for motion pictures and, to a lesser extent, for television, too," he says.

Granger, a product of that "Old Hollywood" who was spotted by a studio casting director when he was performing in a high school play, credits the change to the public.

"You can't fake locations on the backlot any more,"

For $1.95 we'll change your mind about buffets.

Frankly, most buffets look alike. And taste alike. You know beforehand what to expect. But the "Horn of Plenty" dinner buffet in the South Shore Room is different. We've declared war on the copycat buffet.

To begin with, it looks different. That's not too hard. But it doesn't just taste like every other buffet.

We like to give our chefs a chance to show off their originality. You'll like the results. Seven or more steaming entrees and 14 icy salads, served with complimentary wine—to complement the taste of their intriguing selections. Enjoy the varied appetizers and the tempting desserts.

The whole atmosphere is different. Live music, provided by Brian Farnon. Dancing. The glow of good conversation and good food. The dress is casual. After ski. After Harrah's. After anything. For $1.95, enjoy more than dinner. Enjoy the occasion. In any size group. It's $1.25 for children. Bring them along, Sunday through Thursday, 5 to 11 p.m., except February 22.

You'll enjoy the complimentary wine.
